$23,500 Community Chest Appeal Opens Today

Fayette County's big United Fund drive - the 1957 Community Chest campaign - opened today.

The vanguard of more than 350 volunteer workers began contacting local business and professional men, while employee solicitation started in 20 stores, industries and civic groups.

Next Monday the house-to-house coverage of the residential, rural and village areas will begin.

The sum of $23,500 is needed this year to fill the Community Chest and insure a full share for each of the 11 local organizations which receive their support from the annual Red Feather campaign.

THE PARTICIPATING agencies in the United Fund drive are: Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Community Activity Fund, 4-H Club Camp, Girl Scouts,

Public Park, Red Cross and Blood Bank, Retarded Children Council, Salvation Army, USO and YWCA (Y-Teens).

Last year's campaign had the same goal, but only $20,000 was subscribed.

One Chest officer pointed out: "We need a 15 percent increase in giving over last year in order to achieve our goal of $23,500." He went on to remind that each contributor's gift to the campaign must be divided into 11 different shares, or into the percentage portion due each of the agencies.

"Everybody Benefits - Everybody Gives" is the theme of the Chest drive this year. Information sheets distributed to all the workers and to the more than 1,500 individuals covered by the employee solicitation have explained the number of persons participating in or receiving benefits from the 11 Red Feather agencies' program of activities.

A TOTAL of 2,500 persons have taken part or directly benefited in one or more of the Red Feather services provided by the organizations included in the Chest. This, according to the information sheet, does not include the many thousands more who enjoy the Halloween, Christmas and July 4 programs, and use the various facilities of the public park throughout the year.

Thousands of local residents will see a graphic demonstration of the program of the Chest agencies next Monday night when the first big Community Chest parade is to be held in downtown Washington C. H.

The 20 floats, describing the programs of the 11 local agencies in the united campaign, will be interspersed with nine bands and marching groups totaling around 400 young people.

FEATURE of the parade, which is expected to be one of the biggest ever held here, is "Hopalong Cassidy," appearing in person with his horse, Topper. The appearance of the movie and TV star in the parade is expected to draw thousands of people from this section of Ohio to the city.

Many weeks and months of planning has gone into the campaign organizations by the Community Chest board of directors and campaign leaders.

A. R. Hinchey is president of the Chest this year, and co-chairman of the campaign are Mrs. Howard Dellinger and Robert Boyd. The top campaign leaders are Mrs. Frank Dill, rural chairman; Mrs. George Robinson, residential chairman; and Donald R. Murdock, business district chairman.

'Moonwatch' Tracks Soviet Satellite

MAYNARD BOONE peers through his telescope in San Francisco as more than 150 Operation Moon-Watch stations in the world were activated to track the Russian earth satellite. The artificial moon is reportedly 22 inches in diameter and weighs 184 pounds. It circles the earth (diagram) every 95 minutes at an altitude of 558 miles. First station to report the satellite was Columbus, Ohio, where a powerful telescope has been set up for the International Geophysical Year.

Pentagon 'Stupidity' Cited For U. S. Satellite Standing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A noted American authority on outer space said today the U. S. Army could have launched its huge Jupiter C guided missile into outer space as a satellite last year, had it so chosen, but an "astounding piece of stupidity" prevented it.

But, said Dr. I. M. Levitt, "the Pentagon chose to ignore the fact that we had a device capable of launching a satellite and decided to develop another."

He said the Defense Department was deep in the development of the Vanguard rocket for launching a satellite in the International Geophysical Year and decided to concentrate on this rocket when the Jupiter C was already capable of accomplishing the task.

He said the Pentagon explained this "astounding piece of stupidity" by asserting the "Jupiter was designed as a missile, not as a satellite launcher, and that work on the missile - as a weapon - should continue."

Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia, said "this of course retarded the satellite program. It may have speeded the missile program; I don't know."

"But it certainly let the Russians score an astounding propaganda victory over the United States."

Levitt said the United States could have "achieved a satellite moon just like Russia's by doing little more than changing the angle of fire" in a test conducted at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla.

As Russia's earth satellite whirled toward its 40th circuit of the globe today, Pravda predicted the Soviet scientific success will force the United States to revamp its foreign policy.

In a dispatch from New York, Pravda said the success of the satellite puts before U.S. leaders "the inexorable necessity of peaceful coexistence, cessation of their cold war policy."

The Soviet newspaper reported with pride that the satellite sped from New York to Moscow in 16 minutes early today. It said the satellite was functioning perfectly.

But the Russian moon is creating confusion concerning three intriguing questions:

Is Sputnik (Russian for earth satellite) making some space studies, such as temperatures or space's shooting stars?

Is it telling about them in a radio code?

Will the Soviet inform other nations of what Sputnik learns in this maiden voyage into space?

A. A. Blagorayov, now in this country, says Sputnik is only broadcasting radio signals so it can be tracked, and is not studying temperatures, or other event in space. And it's not broadcasting anything in code, he adds.

But in Moscow, a prominent scientist says Sputnik is counting hits by meteorites out in space. The moon would have to report this by some code. One possibility is that, due to language translation difficulties, this scientist was referring to future moons, not to Sputnik the First.

A Moscow broadcast says Sputnik has provided knowledge of "great scientific value," but gives no details. This could refer just to observations of its orbit, giving clues about air density in space, or to knowledge useful in launching and directing future moons into desired orbits.

Russian People Tickled Pink At Success of Their Sputnik

MOSCOW (U.S. The Russian people are tickled pink that their scientists have grabbed the lead from the Americans in the satellite field. But they're not surprised about their Sputnik—Russian for earth satellite.

The Russian people believe Soviet science leads the world. They do not see Western newspapers and magazines, and know little of scientific development outside the Communist world.

Amid the jubilant newspaper and radio accounts of the first man-made moon circling the earth the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia announced the next targets in the satellite program.

Soon, they said, will come bigger satellites than the 184-pound sphere now aloft.

In time (the Russians didn't say when) a satellite will be sent up which can be brought back to earth intact and will not burn up when it re-enters denser atmosphere as the Sputnik will.

AND THEN, the statements added, the Russians will dispatch a satellite that will go around the moon before returning to the earth. And the Soviet people generally expect that program will be carried out.

Presumably Soviet scientists already are hard at work on these targets, quietly and in almost complete secrecy, as they worked on the 184-pounder.

Only scant advance information was given out on the first baby moon. The launching came as a surprise.

Every Moscow newspaper now is printing columns of comment from all over the world on the satellite and timetables of the little ball's flight over the cities of the world.

Many foreigners in Moscow cannot understand why the Communist bosses did not delay the launching until closer to the 40th anniversary of the Red Revolution, on Nov. 7.

These observers wonder if something even more spectacular than the satellite or the ICBM is waiting in the wings for unveiling then.

The Russian "man in the street," taxi drivers, hotel doormen and others, after reading the extravagant praises of the Soviet system and scientists in the Sunday papers, agreed something extra special could be expected a month from now.

U. S. 21 Interstate Designation Asked

COLUMBUS (U.S. — Ohio officials are in Washington today on a mission designed to have U. S. 21 placed on the interstate highway system.

Headed by Gov. C. William O'Neill and Highway Chief Charles M. Noble, the Ohioans were to meet this afternoon with Berttram D. Tallamy, federal highway administrator.

The Route 21 Assn., composed of civic leaders of municipalities located along the roadway connecting Cleveland and Marietta, has been backing an effort by southern states to make it part of a direct Great Lakes-to-Florida highway.

Supreme Court Back on Bench Historic Decisions Stated for Session

WASHINGTON (U.S. — The Supreme Court today opened a new term that is certain to produce historic decisions affecting racial relations, Communist activities and other important problems.

Returning to the bench after summer vacation, the nine justices are confronted with an unusually heavy docket of about 800 cases.

Pending school integration and subversive activities cases could add to the controversy still ranging from last term.

Whether the Little Rock school situation will reach the Supreme Court is problematical, but the court is expected to act this month on an appeal involving Virginia's pupil placement act.

Virginia and school officials of Norfolk and Newport News joined in the appeal, asking the court to review lower federal court decisions that the act is unconstitutional.

Weekend Crashes Injure 6 Persons

Six people were injured and two arrested as a result of seven weekend auto accidents in Washington C. H., Fayette County.

The victims were:

(1) Donald Curtis, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis of 707 Maple St., who spent Saturday night in Fayette Memorial Hospital under treatment for leg and pelvic cuts;

(2) His brother, Robert, 20, treated in the emergency room at the hospital for a shoulder injury;

(3) John Wesley Justice, 55, of Waterloo, treated in the emergency room for elbow and face cuts;

(4) Justice's wife, Opal, 50, treated for head bruises;

(5) Their granddaughter, Kathy Justice, 3, of Dayton, treated for a head bump; and

(6) Harley Rayburn, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rayburn, 704 Church St., treated by a physician for face and arm bruises.

Next Passage Over U. S. Due Early Tuesday

WASHINGTON (U.S. — U.S. naval scientists said today they have a good "fix" on Sputnik, the Russian space satellite, and can plot its path ahead anywhere from 24 hours to a week.

A spokesman at the Naval Research Laboratory also said that Navy scientists now know when they get the beeping signal from the satellite that their readings are precise to 1-10,000th second.

The latest information here is that the satellite is following what the spokesman called a "fairly circular orbit." The exact height has not been determined, he said, but it is a minimum of 400 miles.

The Navy timetable for Sputnik, showed its next passage over the United States should be about 12:11 a. m. (EST) Tuesday. It will be over Chicago at that moment.

A spokesman at the Naval Laboratory added this word of discouragement for Sputnik fans: There isn't a chance of seeing it for at least a week or so, because it can only be seen when it passes over at dawn or dusk.

Rocky Road Faces Hoffa, His Teamsters

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U.S. — The Teamsters Union, with President-Elect James Hoffa at the wheel, headed out on a rocky road today in the wake of a convention held under fire.

Pending in federal courts at Washington is an effort by New York rank and file Teamsters members to discredit the acts of the convention on claims of "rigged" voting delegations.

The AFL-CIO Council meets in New York Oct. 24. It had warned the convention under pain of expulsion not to elect Hoffa, and said both Hoffa and retiring President Dave Beck were unfit to stay in organized labor.

If the Council suspends the 1½-million-member Teamsters, and the AFL-CIO convention expels the Teamsters at its Atlantic City convention Dec. 5, Hoffa has made preparations for a court fight to block the ouster.

Hoffa himself faces charges of wiretapping conspiracy and perjury in New York federal courts Oct. 15.

That is the same day the 44-year-old Detroit labor leader was scheduled to succeed Beck, to whom the convention granted leave as of that date. But Hoffa, already top Teamsters in all but title, probably will assume the office earlier through an arrangement revealed by Beck Sunday.

Beck, 63, said he had offered Hoffa his resignation effective anytime Hoffa wants it. He said that probably would be in a week or so. Beck's five-year term is scheduled to expire Dec. 1.

THE VIRGINIA act conferred on a state board the authority for assignment of pupils. The appeal said the board could act on stated bases, but none of them involved in any way race or color.

Other cases involving racial difficulties include from a $100,000 contempt fine given the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People in Montgomery, Ala.

A long list of cases dealing with subversive activities awaits court action, with top interest in two appeals contesting constitutionality of the "knowing membership" clause of the Smith Act.

Communist leaders Claude M. Lightfoot and Julius I. Scales, first to be convicted under the clause, filed the appeals.

West Readies Arms Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U.S. — The West readied a U.N. disarmament resolution calling for international control of outer-space missiles today while a Soviet satellite circled the earth.

American sources said they thought the Soviet Union's launching of the world's first man-made moon would deeply affect "the whole feeling about the urgency of the disarmament negotiations."

They said perhaps 20 nations would submit the resolution Tuesday or shortly after for debate to begin probably Wednesday in the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee.

Diplomats reported the resolution would have the 82-nation Assembly call for resumption of negotiations in the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee on the basis of six Western proposals:

(1) Agreement on measures to control outer-space missiles; (2) cessation of production of fissionable materials for use in weapons; (3) gradual transfer of military atomic stockpiles to civilian use; (4) an end to nuclear tests; (5) cuts in arms and armed forces; and (6) ground and air inspection covering the whole of disarmament.

BRITAIN, Canada, France and the United States proposed this program to the Soviet Union in the five-nation subcommittee in London Aug. 29. The Soviets rejected the plan and the subcommittee talks recessed in deadlock eight days later.

The specific proposal on outer-space missiles is that within three months after a disarmament pact takes effect, a technical committee should be set up to work out an inspection system to see that such missiles are devoted "exclusively to peaceful and scientific purposes."

20 New Guinea Natives Laughing Selves to Death

SYDNEY, Australia (U.S. — Twenty New Guinea natives afflicted with the kuru—laughing disease, are laughing themselves to death in Okana Hospital, in the eastern highlands of New Guinea.

Sir Macfarlane Burnet, director of the Hall Institute for Medical Research in Melbourne, says the grim disease, probably inherited, is one of the world's rarest and is almost always fatal.

So far 70 natives are afflicted. An Okana Hospital official said the walls there shake with hysterical outbursts of laughter.

"Some of the 70 victims already are laid down to die, after exhausting themselves with laughter. Soon they'll be paralyzed and die," he said.

The naval research lab figured Sputnik would again approach the United States traveling from southwest to northeast.

Opportunity and Obligation

(An Editorial)

The "Red Feather" campaign for the Community Chest is now in progress in Washington C. H. and throughout Fayette County. Every citizen interested in our countywide community should feel an obligation to do his or her part in making this drive a positive success.

A total of $23,500 is the goal set. This amount is definitely needed to insure a proper contribution to each of 11 agencies involved and this united drive saves the time and trouble of making 11 separate campaigns within the year.

The drive opened Monday throughout the business sections of the city and villages. Next Monday solicitation will begin through a house-to-house coverage with 350 volunteer workers giving their time and energy toward raising the money so much needed by the various agencies involved which, in one way or another, help many thousands of people in this city and county.

The slogan for the drive—"Everybody Benefits and Everybody Gives," seems quite appropriate. The money secured will be used for deserving purposes to which every citizen should willingly subscribe.

To be aided are the Public Park, used by thousands each year; Red Cross and Blood Bank which helps save local lives and aids in various other ways; Boy Scouts and Cubs, Camp Fire Girls, Retarded Children, the Community Activity Fund covering public holiday programs, Salvation Army, the USO which helps local boys in military service, Girl Scouts, YWCA and the 4-H Club Camp.

It would be difficult to know how many children and adults have been helped and made happier over the years from one or more of these agencies, but the figure would run into many thousands.

Don't fail to see the Community Chest parade next Monday night to get an idea of the good you can do — then get ready to make your donation larger than ever before.

Chillicothe Radar Sets Fall Operation

WASHINGTON (U.S. — The Civil Aeronautics Administration CAA, said today a new long range radar unit will be installed at Chillicothe, Ohio, is expected to be in operation by next fall.

Each unit costs slightly less than $416,000. They are being made by the Raytheon Manufacturing Co., Waltham, Mass.

Information from the Chillicothe unit will be sent by microwave relay to the Indianapolis Air Traffic Control Center to assist in keeping track of planes in the area.

The CAA said the Chillicothe unit is expected to be delivered by July with installation and flight testing requiring about six weeks.

New Class Week Beginning Quietly Again in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (U.S. — A new class week got underway at Central High School today with nine Negro students making a quiet entrance to continue their integrated education.

Principal J. W. Matthews appeared on the sunlit steps at the main entrance and cleared it of about 50 lounging white students before the Negroes arrived.

In contrast to last week's 20 or more armed escorting troops, only half a dozen federal National Guardsmen walked beside the six Negro girls and three boys as they entered school. There was no heckling.

In Little Rock only the presence of federalized National Guard troops around Central High gave any indication of other than peace and calm in the state capital. But elsewhere:

A South Carolina county bought nine submachineguns to repel any federal troops which might be sent there as they were here.

A burning cross, symbol of Southern resistance reaching back to Reconstruction days, blazed on the lawn of Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, a critic of Arkansas' Gov. Orval Faubus, who is blamed by some for touching off the Little Rock crisis.

Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) demanded release of FBI information on Little Rock's riots and other occurrences, coupling it with a denunciation of Faubus.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said in Chicago that the "greatest sin" of Faubus "has been arousing and fanning ugly racial hatred in the minds and hearts of impressionable white children in the North and South."

And an Arkansas GOP leader, State Rep. F. A. (Pat) Teague, said "The Republicans had just as well writ: off the South for the next 50 years" because of storms whipped up here.

$23,500 Community Chest Appeal Opens Today

Fayette County's big United Fund drive - the 1957 Community Chest campaign - opened today.

The vanguard of more than 350 volunteer workers began contacting local business and professional men, while employee solicitation started in 20 stores, industries and civic groups.

Next Monday the house-to-house coverage of the residential, rural and village areas will begin.

The sum of $23,500 is needed this year to fill the Community Chest and insure a full share for each of the 11 local organizations which receive their support from the annual Red Feather campaign.

THE PARTICIPATING agencies in the United Fund drive are: Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Community Activity Fund, 4-H Club Camp, Girl Scouts,

Public Park, Red Cross and Blood Bank, Retarded Children Council, Salvation Army, USO and YWCA (Y-Teens).

Last year's campaign had the same goal, but only $20,000 was subscribed.

One Chest officer pointed out: "We need a 15 percent increase in giving over last year in order to achieve our goal of $23,500." He went on to remind that each contributor's gift to the campaign must be divided into 11 different shares, or into the percentage portion due each of the agencies.

"Everybody Benefits - Everybody Gives" is the theme of the Chest drive this year. Information sheets distributed to all the workers and to the more than 1,500 individuals covered by the employee solicitation have explained the number of persons participating in or receiving benefits from the 11 Red Feather agencies' program of activities.

A TOTAL of 2,500 persons have taken part or directly benefited in one or more of the Red Feather services provided by the organizations included in the Chest. This, according to the information sheet, does not include the many thousands more who enjoy the Halloween, Christmas and July 4 programs, and use the various facilities of the public park throughout the year.

Thousands of local residents will see a graphic demonstration of the program of the Chest agencies next Monday night when the first big Community Chest parade is to be held in downtown Washington C. H.

The 20 floats, describing the programs of the 11 local agencies in the united campaign, will be interspers-

Many weeks and months of planning has gone into the campaign organizations by the Community Chest board of directors and campaign leaders.

A. R. Hinchey is president of the Chest this year, and co-chairman of the campaign are Mrs. Howard Dellinger and Robert Boyd. The top campaign leaders are Mrs. Frank Dill, rural chairman; Mrs. George Robinson, residential chairman; and Donald R. Murgock, business district chairman.

Weekend Crashes Injure 6 Persons

Six people were injured and two arrested as a result of seven weekend auto accidents in Washington C. H. Fayette County.

The victims were:

- (1) Donald Curtis, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis of 707 Maple St., who spent Saturday night in Fayette Memorial Hospital under treatment for leg and pelvic cuts;
- (2) His brother, Robert, 20, treated in the emergency room at the hospital for a shoulder injury;
- (3) John Wesley Justice, 55, of Waterloo, treated in the emergency room for elbow and face cuts;
- (4) Justice's wife, Opal, 50, treated for head bruises;
- (5) Their granddaughter, Kathy Justice, 3, of Dayton, treated for a head bump; and
- (6) Harley Rayburn, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rayburn, 704 Church St., treated by a physician for face and arm bruises.

THE CURTIS BROTHERS were injured when their car ran off Dev-alon Rd., near Bloomingburg, early Saturday afternoon. The auto, which skidded into a ditch, was wrecked.

The Justice family was involved in an accident on Route 12 near New Holland about 10:30 a. m. Saturday. John Justice was the driver of a westbound auto which tried to pass a stopped car operated by Harold White, 22, of Springfield, Tenn., as White was waiting for a third car coming the other direction, to get through a bridge.

Justice apparently pulled in too close and hit the side of the White car. The Justice auto remained upright, but it spun around and blocked the road.

Driver of the third car was not identified. Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson investigated.

THE RAYBURN youth was injured about 5:35 p. m. Friday on Elm St. west of Yeoman St., when he was hit by a car driven, by Harry Robert Ferneau, 22, of Blanchester. (Please turn to page two)

The latest information here is that the satellite is following what the spokesman called a "fairly circular orbit." The exact height has not been determined, he said, but it is a minimum of 400 miles.

The Navy timetable for Sputnik, showed its next passage over the United States should be about 12:11 a. m. (EST) Tuesday. It will be over Chicago at that moment.

A spokesman at the Naval Laboratory added this word of discouragement for Sputnik fans: There isn't a chance of seeing it for at least a week or so, because it can only be seen when it passes over at dawn or dusk.

"IT'S LIKE dust particles caught in a beam of sunlight," he said. "You can see the dust particles when you are sitting in the dark. Similarly when you're sitting in the dark on the earth and the satellite goes overhead in the light of dawn or dusk it should be visible with the naked eye. But when it passes over in full darkness or full daylight there is no chance at all of seeing it."

The spokesman said Sputnik is moving across the United States in a southeasterly direction. It follows a fairly rigid course but because the earth is turning beneath it its path moves westward about 1,500 miles with each circuit.

In the timetable given by the U. S. researchers the times were when Sputnik crosses the line on the map representing 40 degrees north latitude. That is a line that traverses the United States roughly from south of Eureka, Calif., to Denver, Indianapolis, Ind., Columbus, Ohio, and Philadelphia.

The naval research lab figured Sputnik would again approach the United States traveling from southwest to northeast.

New Class Week Beginning Quietly Again in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A new class week got underway at Central High School today with nine Negro students making a quiet entrance to continue their integrated education.

Principal J. W. Matthews appeared on the sunlit steps at the main entrance and cleared it of about 50 lounging white students before the Negroes arrived.

In contrast to last week's 30 or more armed escorting troops, only half a dozen federal National Guardsmen walked beside the six Negro girls and three boys as they entered school. There was no heckling.

In Little Rock only the presence of federalized National Guard troops around Central High gave any indication of other than peace and calm in the state capital. But elsewhere:

A South Carolina county bought nine submachineguns to repel any federal troops which might be sent there as they were here.

Russian People Tickled Pink At Success of Their Sputnik

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russian people are tickled pink that their scientists have grabbed the lead from the Americans in the satellite field. But they're not surprised about their Sputnik-Russian for earth satellite.

The Russian people believe Soviet science leads the world. They do not see Western newspapers and magazines, and know little of scientific development outside the Communist world.

Amid the jubilant newspaper and radio accounts of the first man-made moon circling the earth the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and several leading scientists announced the next targets in the satellite program.

Soon, they said, will come bigger satellites than the 184-pound sphere now aloft.

In time (the Russians didn't say when) a satellite will be sent up which can be brought back to earth intact and will not burn up when it re-enters denser atmosphere as the Sputnik will.

erally expect that program will be carried out.

Presumably Soviet scientists already are hard at work on these targets, quietly and in almost complete secrecy, as they worked on the 184-pounder.

Only scant advance information was given out on the first baby moon. The launching came as a surprise.

Every Moscow newspaper now is printing columns of comment from all over the world on the satellite and timetables of the little ball's flight over the cities of the world.

Many foreigners in Moscow cannot understand why the Communist bosses did not delay the launching until closer to the 40th anniversary of the Red Revolution, on Nov. 7.

These observers wonder if something even more spectacular than the satellite or the ICBM is waiting in the wings for unveiling then.

The Russian "mar in the street" has taken up the speculation. Taxi drivers, hotel doormen and others, after reading the extravagant praises of the Soviet system and scientists in the Sunday papers, agreed something extra special could be expected a month from now.

Five children, two women and two men were among those treated for accidental injuries during a busy weekend in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital.

Pearl Cox of East Monroe was treated for back and pelvic injuries resulting from an auto accident on Route 28 in Highland County Sunday. He was admitted to the hospital after treatment. His condition is described as fair.

Donald Huff, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huff of Route 5 was treated for a head cut after he was hit by a car driven by his father in the driveway at their home Sunday.

Albert Penwell, Jr., 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penwell of 321 Oak St., was treated Sunday after he fell onto a nail sticking through a piece of lumber.

TREATED SUNDAY after he fell on a rock was David Exline, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Exline of 732 S. Fayette St.

Mrs. George Pierre of 1125 E. Paint St. was treated Sunday after a pot of coffee spilled on her right hand and both legs in a downtown restaurant.

6 Ohioans Die in Air Accident

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Six Ohio persons were killed Sunday night when their twin-engine airplane crashed near the top of fog-shrouded Summit Mountain.

Flying in a heavy rain, the craft came down in a heavily wooded area near the Jumonville Methodist summer camp about seven miles east of here.

Stephen R. Haky, deputy coroner, identified four of the victims from papers found on their bodies. They were:

T.M. McLaughlin, about 45, of Shaker Heights, Ohio, senior partner of T. M. McLaughlin Co., Cleveland food brokers.

His wife, Helen Grace.

Warren F. Noonan, 40, the pilot of Middletown, Ohio.

Theodore O. Krauss, 30, co-pilot of Cleveland.

Haky tentatively identified the other two victims from clothing marks as Mr. and Mrs. R.S. Stewart of Cleveland.

A spokesman for Standard Oil of Ohio, owner of the plane, said Stewart was vice president in charge of production.

He said the Stewarts and the McLaughlins, neighbors in Shaker Heights, boarded the plane after checking out of a hotel in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. The couples were enroute home after a vacation.

Korean Awaiting Reply on 'Tiptoe'

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Korean student at the University of Cincinnati appealed today to "the top and most powerful organization in this city" to help him get a chauffeur's license.

City officials figured that designation must refer to the City Council so the letter from J. Jae-Kee Kin will be presented to council members Wednesday.

The student said he had been turned down for a chauffeur's license because of a city ordinance providing they may be issued only to United States citizens. Kin said he has offers of jobs from two taxi firms and that he needs the work to pay his way through school.

"I will be on the tiptoe of expectation for your letter," the student wrote.

4 Workers Injured By Ironton Coke Oven

Houng Robinson's uncle, Bernard Robinson, 31, of South Point, were the others burned.

3 Phone Firms Seek Vinton Area Service

COLUMBUS (AP)—Three telephone companies today ask the Utilities Commission for permission to provide service to an area in Richland Township of Vinton County not served by any telephone company. The companies are General Telephone Co., Commonwealth Telephone Co. and Chillicothe Telephone Co. They told the commission they have agreed on how to divide the territory.

Deaths, Funerals

Dr. Charles J. Ramsey

Dr. Charles J. Ramsey, 54, a native of the Bloomingburg community, died at 12:30 a. m. Sunday of a heart attack in Gulfport, Miss., only two days after he had moved from Zanesville to retire.

Dr. Ramsey, an optometrist and graduate of Bloomingburg High School, had practiced in Zanesville for the last 15 years, before he and Mrs. Ramsey went to Gulfport, her former home.

Dr. Ramsey, the son of the late Richard S. Ramsey, former Fayette County sheriff, is survived by his wife, Thelma; a brother, Lewis Ramsey of Washington C. H. and a sister, Mrs. Naomi Gary in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey left Sunday for Gulfport to attend the funeral.

Miss Lilian Van Kirk

Miss Lilian Van Kirk, a native of Washington C. H. and a former teacher in the schools here died Sunday in a hospital in Pittsburgh, where she had lived for the last several years following her retirement. She had been in failing health for the last two years.

Miss Van Kirk taught in Springfield, Columbus, Akron and Cleveland prior to her retirement. Burial of her last illness were not given in word of her death received by relatives here.

Her closest surviving relatives are a sister, Mrs. Walter Leuzinger of Pittsburgh; an aunt, Mrs. O. S. Nelson of Grove City and several cousins here.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Tuesday in Pittsburgh, followed by cremation.

Dan E. Mulvihill

SABINA—Dan E. Mulvihill, 87, was found dead in bed at his home on Route 729 in Jasper Township Sunday morning by a neighbor, Earl Richards.

Mr. Mulvihill, who lived alone, had been in failing health for several years. Inasmuch as he had been under the care of a physician, the coroner was not called. His physician said death was due to natural causes and that he thought he had died around 3 a. m.

Richards, who had been dropping in to see Mr. Mulvihill nearly every day, learned of his death when he took the paper to him Sunday morning as had been his custom for some time.

A retired farmer, he was well known in the community where he had spent virtually his entire life. He was a member of St. Colman's Catholic Church in Washington C. H.

Mrs. Mulvihill died in 1955, but he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Margaret L. Leonard and Mrs. Marie Kennelly, both of Chicago, and a niece, Miss Elizabeth Leonard, also of Chicago.

Requiem high mass will be sung at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday in St. Colman's Church by the Rev. Father Urban Wiggins. Burial will be in St. Colman's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Littleton Funeral Home after noon Tuesday.

ROBERT D. WEST—Services for Robert D. West, who died Thursday night in his home near West Lancaster, were conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday by the Rev. C. R. Williamson, pastor of the Jeffersonville Methodist Church, in the Morrow Funeral Home in Jeffersonville.

Pallbearers for the burial in the Millidgeville Cemetery were John Warnock, Thurman H. Warnock Sr. Robert Warnock, Thurman H. Warnock Jr., Conner Allen and Alfred Burr.

The visitors, here for an international conference on rocket and satellite programs, included three Russians, A. A. Blagonravov, Sergei M. Poloskov and A. M. Kasatkin.

U. S. SCIENTISTS are tracking the Russian satellite with signals recorded at nine points in North and South America. The information received at these points is fed into Washington where it is fed into an electronic brain.

With establishment of a fix on the Russian baby moon, Navy trackers said it should become visible in the continental United States "in about a week or 10 days."

A spokesman for Project Vanguard, the U. S. satellite program, said it is estimated that the Soviet satellite will begin at that time to make passages over the United States during pre-dawn or evening twilight periods — the only times it would be visible. He said the "extreme north-

Two Men Fined And Jailed on DWI Charges

Other Weekend Traffic Offenders Appear in Court

Two men charged with drunken driving pleaded guilty before Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court Monday.

One of them pleaded guilty to an additional charge of driving during a period of license revocation, while the other pleaded guilty to an additional charge of reckless operation.

Fined $200 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail each on the DWI counts were Willard Easter, 41, of Route 1, Greenfield, and Elias Carter, 54, of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Easter was fined an additional $50 and costs and sentenced to two more days in jail for driving while his license was under revocation. He was arrested about 2:50 a. m. Sunday on East St.

Carter was fined an additional $50 and costs on the reckless driving charge. He was arrested about 9 p. m. Saturday on Columbus Ave.

DRIVING RIGHTS of both defendants were suspended for a year. Easter, whose license was revoked for a previous drunken driving charge, gets an extra 12 months added to the original suspension.

James Flores, 20, of Greenfield, was fined $25 and costs after he pleaded guilty to passing illegally.

Fined $10 and costs after he was found guilty of driving with improper title was William Holcomb, Route 1. He pleaded not guilty, but was convicted by the court.

Forfeiting bond for non-appearance on traffic counts were:

James Elliott, 71, Greenfield, illegal passing, $25; Marie Cramer, 23, Cincinnati, speeding, $20; Theodore Jett, 19, Greenfield, excessive noise with an auto, $20; Charles Evans, 56, Cincinnati, failure to yield, $15; Miss Willia Roden, 29, Jamestown, failure to yield, $15; and Glenn Vernon, 21, Route 38 north, failure to stop for a stop sign, $15.

west portion of the country" would be the first to see it.

American satellite planners have said their plans call for launching a satellite to an altitude of 300 miles, but that they expect it would then go into an elliptical orbit having a minimum altitude of 200 miles and possibly as high as 2,000 miles at its farthest point.

The closer to a circle the orbit is, the longer a satellite would remain aloft, but it is more difficult to achieve a circular one than an elliptical one.

Three young University of Alaska scientists were reported Sunday to have been the first Americans to see the satellite with the naked eye.

Dr. Gordon B. Little, assistant director of the University's geophysical station, said Robert S. Leonard, Joseph Pope and Dr. Giancarlo Rumi watched it for five minutes.

Little reported that the observers saw it as "a bright star-like object, moving in a slow graceful curve across the sky like a very slow shooting star."

Officer Needs Help Saving Drowning Girl

COLUMBUS (AP)—A Columbus police officer Sunday attempted to rescue an 18-year-old girl from the Scioto River here, but became exhausted before reaching shore. While the two were still 15 feet from the bank, a second policeman dived in and rescued both of them.

Motorcycle officer Edward F. Baker sped to the river after an unidentified motorist told him a girl had just jumped from the West Broad Street bridge.

Despite the girl's struggles to break away, Baker managed to bring her to within 15 feet of shore before exhaustion set in.

At that point, Officer William Smith arrived at the scene. He dived in and managed to bring Baker and the girl to shore.

Officers said the girl, Charlotte Ann Donahue of Columbus, was recently discharged from Columbus State Hospital. She was treated in a hospital and returned to the state institution. Baker was treated for exhaustion and released.

Ohio University Boys Hear Sputnik Signals

ATHENS (AP)—Two Ohio University students picked up radio signals from the Russian earth satellite last weekend.

They are Ray Jurgens and Carl Trivett who used a 40-meter short wave set being built to pick up signals from the satellite the United States expects to launch next spring. The radio signals first were heard Saturday morning. The students recorded the signals again at 12:05 a.m. and 1:44 p.m. Sunday.

Early Report Indicates Low Brucellosis 'Suspect' Rate

A preliminary report mailed to the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday by County Agricultural Extension Agent W. W. Montgomery, indicates what is termed an exceptionally low percentage of "suspect" cases of brucellosis in the county in the second area ring test just completed.

The number of "suspects" 12 out of 522 samples tested is 2.3 per cent. In 1956 the tests made in this county showed a percentage of 9.9 which was regarded by those making the tests as low.

Approximately 20 samples remain to be tested from dairy herds

ter. Ferneau was driving a car owned by Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, who was a passenger when the mishap occurred.

Police Patrolmen Rodman Scott said the Rayburn boy ran out from behind a parked car.

FORFEITING $15 bond on a charge of failure to yield the right of way, filed after a Saturday morning accident, was Miss Willia Roden, 29, of Jamestown.

Police said her auto, headed west on Peabody St. about 10:50 a. m. Saturday, hit a car driven by William E. Thomas, 41, of 508 Delaware St. in the Pearl St. intersection.

Both cars were damaged. Sheriff Orland Hays said a reckless operation charge will be filed against Hobart Smith, 21, of 327 S. Main St., whose car ran off Route 62, about three miles south, at 3 a. m. Sunday.

Smith told the sheriff his car was forced off a curve by another car driving in the wrong lane.

FENDERS and bumpers were the casualties in a rear-end collision on Route 70 south at the New Martinsburg Rd. intersection about noon Saturday.

Deputy Donald Thompson said Burice A. Frye, 34, of Route 2, Leesburg, was headed south on Route 70, and that he slowed down when he hit some fresh tar. His car was hit from the rear by a car driven by George K. Daley, 43, of Greenfield.

A truck driver escaped injury about 10:30 a. m. Saturday when his truck was forced off the road and rolled onto its side through a fence at the Wayne Jenks farm on Route 22 about three miles east of here.

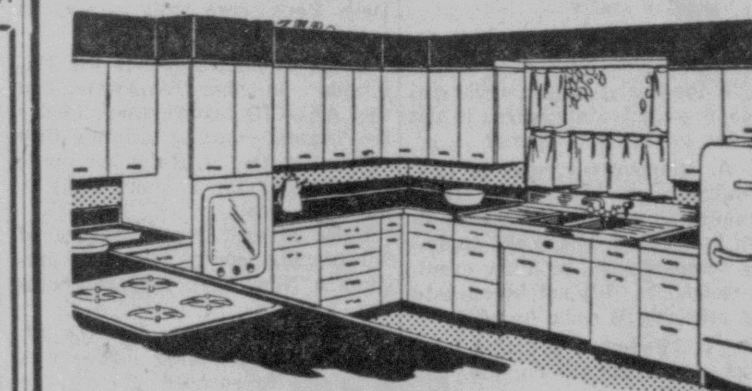

The driver was Melvin Moore, 45, of near Washington C. H. The truck belonged to Eldon Armbrust of Flakes Ford Rd. Moore said someone cut in close in front of him after passing, and that he edged over too far.

Traffic Jams Also Affect Smaller Cities

Even in a smaller city like Washington C. H. the growth of traffic congestion seems to become worse by the month.

This week the first statewide conference on pressing metropolitan problems is scheduled for Akron and among the bigger items being given attention is that of transportation.

Reports from delegates attending that convention indicate that this problem as it affects bigger cities, and smaller localities also, is being regarded as becoming decidedly formidable; that cities all over Ohio are under going a situation amounting almost to strangulation by reason of snarled up traffic conditions. Pedestrians are annoyed as well as motorists.

How to relieve downtown traffic congestion is being seriously examined, not only in Ohio but in several other states. At a New York City conference recently it was recognized in final reports that methods would have to be adopted to eliminate traffic snarling, also to reduce air pollution from motor car exhausts. Incidentally, it was recommended that the automotive industry concentrate on ways and means for more smaller vehicles and more efficient engines.

It was pointed out that increases in length and width of cars have already caused substantial loss of parking and garage space. A reduction of just one foot on 10,000 cars represents two miles of bumper - to - bumper traffic, it was said.

This whole problem has become something for more serious concern than most people are giving it. Even in small communities such as Fayette County as a whole, the accidents and many other bothersome conditions, cannot longer be taken lightly.

Many persons believe that people of this nation never can work their way out of the present growing traffic jams by merely building urban expressways and long distance freeways alone.

It seems that highway construction crews never appear able to keep up with public demand. At the rate automobiles are being produced and suburban areas are giving way to new homes, this situation is likely to get worse rather than better.

The recommendation that more busses and smaller cars will take care of much of the problem, might help, but will not be the real solution. So what will prove helpful and reduce danger, remains for some expert with bright ideas to come forward with the answer.

She Cherishes 'Fur People'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"The fur people are a great part of my life," said actress June Havoc, who keeps and is consoled by seven dogs and two cats.

"They are my companions. I started out with them when there were no 'skin people' (no children my own age) around to play with. Therefore the fur people have been a great part of my life, and still are.

"You know how a hobo, if you give him a handout, will make a mark on the pavement to let other hoboes know your's is a door to knock on? Well, I have a cross like that on top of my head.

"It's invisible to the skin people, but it says to all the fur people, 'This is the place, Charlie!'

"Dogs can see it two blocks away and give me the wink. They know I know."

Miss Havoc has been honored by West Coast humane societies for her work in helping save 265,000 homeless cats and dogs doomed to extermination.

"I helped get them jobs," she said. "I particularly like to find jobs for middle-aged fur people who have lost their former homes. They are truly tragic. Everybody loves a puppy or a kitty, but who ever buys a middle-aged dog or cat?"

Miss Havoc, Gypsy Rose Lee's little sister, feels there is a kind of kinship between the fur people and human entertainers—a secret bond of understanding. Both know their main role in life is to make somebody else feel better.

June herself admits she didn't earn a penny until she was two years old, when she started dancing in vaudeville.

"At 3 I went into films, and at 3½ the legitimate theater," she recalled.

"I have been thrown with older folks so much that today I can sit around with people of 65 or 70 and pop the cork as well as if I were one of them."

June is writing her autobiography and rehearsing for a new Broadway comedy called "One Foot In The Door."

Miss Havoc, who never went to school a day in her life, is proud of the fact that single-handed she has written down the story of her early struggles.

"I wrote 42 pounds of words," she said. "The book carries me up to the age of 14—the wildest years of my life."

June also has the pride in her profession that marks the true craftsman, and this is her goal: "I want to be independent enough to say at 85, 'Do want that role' or 'I don't want that role' and to die with my make-up on."

"I'm not a frivolous person. Is that too much to ask in this world?"

Nationalized State or a Union?

By George Sokolsky

Events are numerous and attract widespread attention even if the particular event amounts to nothing more than a ball team shifting its habitat or a move-star divorcing her sixth husband.

The forces that move men and women in each historic era are not always visible or definable but many of them are so powerful that they make for war or revolution or vast changes in culture.

The quest for human dignity is eternal and appears among all human beings. It is incorporated in the three great Semitic religions, Judaism, Christianity and Islam.

Associated with the concept of human dignity is the ideal, incorporated in the American Declaration of Independence, of equal rights which has been translated as meaning equal rights under the law but not equality as conceived in the French Revolution.

The Little Rock event brings this particular question again to the fore in American affairs. For what Little Rock asks is whether a Negro can be equated as equal under the law and with identical rights and privileges as a white person in the state of Arkansas.

The United States Constitution makes it so by the 14th and 15th amendments; the Supreme Court has made it so by the school integration decision. But these are political means; will recognition be achieved by social means?

Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia set forth a Southern reaction to this question in remarks before the United States Senate dealing with the question of equal civil rights.

The main burden of his theme is that this measure moves away from each individual human being standing alone and in personal dignity, equal to all other individuals, in the eyes of the law and in the bosom of God, and substituting for the individual, a group, a minority group to which is given special privileges and special protections.

Sen. Talmadge says: "When Congress undertakes to enact laws giving special rights to minorities which are denied to the majority, then constitutional safeguards of all the people become meaningless.

When Congress jeopardizes individual rights and transfers or creates rights in a special group or class, it is treading on dangerous ground.

"The rights of every American citizen—whatever his color, extraction or national origin—are threatened by this bill.

"That is true whether he be a Nisei farmer on the West Coast, a colored steelworker in Toledo, a Catholic fisherman in New England, a Mexican rancher in Texas or a Jewish rabbi in Brooklyn."

The relationship of state to federal government is the essence of this problem. During the Roosevelt administration the federal government grew in power first because of the depression and then because of the war.

It taxed the people of each state but returned to the state government a share of the taxes for special purposes, thus developing a measure of control over agencies and activities of government heretofore regarded as the special province of states.

For many years, this process was accepted as correct, although it threw into each state a murrin of federal officials whose salaries and upkeep increased the burden of taxes for the whole American people.

It was hoped that when Eisenhower became President, there would be some relief from this process of costly centralization. There has been no relief.

The events in Arkansas then raised two issues: one the Negro question which some thought had been solved 92 years ago by the Civil War; the other the fundamental constitutional question of the relationship of the federal government to the states.

By sending federal troops into Little Rock, President Eisenhower committed an act, the constitutionality of which will be questioned even in states where there is agreement with him on his views concerning Negro integration. Under which provision of the Constitution were these troops sent into Arkansas? Is the United States at war with the state of Arkansas? Had Congress declared such a war? Is Arkansas in a state of rebellion?

These are questions which will not be ignored. They transcend the Little Rock High School and Gov. Orval Faubus. They even transcend Attorney General Herbert Brownell and President Eisenhower.

In a work, these are questions upon which hang the future political and social structure of this country. To summarize the issue, perhaps to over-simplify it, it is:

Shall we become a nationalized centralized state or remain a federal union as the Constitution provides?

Science Puts Safety In Cancer Surgery

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Scientists of the College of Medicine at the University of Illinois are working on a program designed to overcome one of the chief hazards of cancer surgery.

Injecting drugs into veins on each of three days following the operation to chase down and destroy any cancer cells which might have escaped into the bloodstream or wound.

The drugs being used in the program are nitrogen mustard and thioTEPA. Experiments have shown both to have cancer-killing properties.

Nitrogen mustard, a deadly poison gas, was prepared for World War II, but was never used. ThioTEPA is a chemical relation. They must be used cautiously, since both are toxic; they destroy the blood-making bone marrow, leaving the patient easy prey for infection.

In the Illinois experiments, four small doses will be administered instead of one large one.

This is one of the latest developments in our fight against cancer. I thought you might be interested in hearing about it.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

L. B.: What foods should one with hardening of the arteries avoid?

Answer: There is no one food which should be avoided to prevent hardening of the arteries. However, it is believed by some authorities that the restriction of certain foods high in cholesterol or fat is of aid in preventing the progress of hardening of the arteries.

Tuscarawas Sheriff Details

Theory on Beating Puzzle

DENNISON, Ohio (AP)—Tuscarawas County's sheriff has a theory to explain some puzzlers in the case of a traveling salesman who said he was robbed, beaten and shot by a man who drowned a few minutes later when he drove the salesman's car off U. S. 250 into Lake Tappan.

Sheriff K. D. Hiller's theory fits the story told police by Donald McPhee, 34, of Youngstown, the salesman. McPhee is recovering at Twin Cities Hospital here from head wounds and a bullet still lodged in his back.

For nearly 48 hours from last Friday, he lay in the woods east of here, unconscious at first, and then unable to move his legs. Two hunters found him Saturday while search parties hunted through the area.

The man whom McPhee said kidnapped, beat and shot him also was shot once in the chest with a .22-caliber bullet, an autopsy showed. Wearing McPhee's clothes and driving McPhee's car, this man—Clarence R. Dowdell, 23, who lived near Lake Tappan—was dead when he was fished out of the lake.

A magnet brought by the London Prison Farm's criminal investigation bureau was dragged through the lake waters for six hours Sunday before hundreds of spectators, but failed to retrieve the missing pistol.

Sheriff Hiller theorizes Dowdell accidentally shot himself when he struck McPhee on the head with the pistol butt. Then, supposes the sheriff, Dowdell sped off in McPhee's car to get his wound fixed, blacked out and swerved into the lake.

"Dowdell was an excellent swimmer, but when a truck driver who saw the car enter the water called to him, his wounded condition prevented him from getting on top of the car before it sank in nine feet of water," Hiller said. McPhee said Dowdell was standing beside a car on U. S. 250, and the salesman, en route from Cadiz to Dennison, stopped to volunteer help. Dowdell pointed a pistol at him and made him drive into a wooded area and exchange clothes with him, McPhee related.

Then, said the salesman, Dowdell struck him over the head. As he lost consciousness, McPhee said, he thought he heard two shots fired.

This is Sheriff Hiller's theory on motive:

"Dowdell was known to be peculiar and unstable, but not violent. I feel he may have had a disappointing affair with a girl friend and wanted to do something to make himself feel like a big shot. This may have been it."

A Cadiz waitress who was a former girl friend of Dowdell had told police she rejected several telephoned appeals for dates with him the same day he died.

Hiller said he found no evidence any persons other than McPhee and Dowdell were involved in the incident.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Beep . . . beep . . . beep . . . beep . . . This is the sound of the future. And, at the moment, it has a Russian accent.

Around the world in about an hour and half goes the Soviet moonlet. Constantly its radio transmitter sends back that haunting telltale beep. You can hear the beep on any short-wave radio. You may be able to see the satellite itself soon. Some say they already have seen it.

The Russians are busy kissing their own reflections in mirrors over their triumph in being first. The United States would have done more than a little crowing too if this country had taken the first big plunge into space.

How come we didn't, after all the talking U.S. officials did about big plans for a satellite?

Already there is the usual demand for an investigation. Sen. Symington (D-Mo) wants the Senate Armed Services Committee to call in defense officials and scientists for questioning. "This is a very serious matter that cannot be laughed off," Symington says.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty shows no dismay that the Russians successfully launched the first artificial moon. "We never thought of our program as one which was in a race with the Soviets," Hagerty says.

But the Russians obviously thought they were in a race and proceeded to win it. It isn't so hard to win a race when your opponent didn't hear the starting gun.

Scientifically, it may not matter that the Russians were first with a missile powerful enough to plant a beach-ball-sized sphere more than 500 miles in the air. This country's satellite project is known to be well along and presumably can catch up. But disturbing questions arise in other fields:

1. What does the rest of the world think? The Soviet satellites (of the earthbound variety, that is) are happily trumpeting that Russia has taken over world leadership in research and development.

2. Is this country devoting enough attention to science and engineering? Many educators and others have long contended that we are not—that the Soviets are forging ahead of us.

3. What happens next? We'll try to get our own satellite off the ground, of course, at our relatively leisurely pace. What then?

It would answer a good many questions of this sort if the American people, squinting into the sun for a glimpse of the man-made moon, had a detailed report from their government on just what has happened and what is being done about it.

Tuscarawas Sheriff Details Theory on Beating Puzzle

DENNISON, Ohio (AP)—Tuscarawas County's sheriff has a theory to explain some puzzlers in the case of a traveling salesman who said he was robbed, beaten and shot by a man who drowned a few minutes later when he drove the salesman's car off U. S. 250 into Lake Tappan.

Sheriff K. D. Hiller's theory fits the story told police by Donald McPhee, 34, of Youngstown, the salesman. McPhee is recovering at Twin Cities Hospital here from head wounds and a bullet still lodged in his back.

For nearly 48 hours from last Friday, he lay in the woods east of here, unconscious at first, and then unable to move his legs. Two hunters found him Saturday while search parties hunted through the area.

The man whom McPhee said kidnapped, beat and shot him also was shot once in the chest with a .22-caliber bullet, an autopsy showed. Wearing McPhee's clothes and driving McPhee's car, this man—Clarence R. Dowdell, 23, who lived near Lake Tappan—was dead when he was fished out of the lake.

A magnet brought by the London Prison Farm's criminal investigation bureau was dragged through the lake waters for six hours Sunday before hundreds of spectators, but failed to retrieve the missing pistol.

Sheriff Hiller theorizes Dowdell accidentally shot himself when he struck McPhee on the head with the pistol butt. Then, supposes the sheriff, Dowdell sped off in McPhee's car to get his wound fixed, blacked out and swerved into the lake.

"Dowdell was an excellent swimmer, but when a truck driver who saw the car enter the water called to him, his wounded condition prevented him from getting on top of the car before it sank in nine feet of water," Hiller said. McPhee said Dowdell was standing beside a car on U. S. 250, and the salesman, en route from Cadiz to Dennison, stopped to volunteer help. Dowdell pointed a pistol at him and made him drive into a wooded area and exchange clothes with him, McPhee related.

Then, said the salesman, Dowdell struck him over the head. As he lost consciousness, McPhee said, he thought he heard two shots fired.

This is Sheriff Hiller's theory on motive:

"Dowdell was known to be peculiar and unstable, but not violent. I feel he may have had a disappointing affair with a girl friend and wanted to do something to make himself feel like a big shot. This may have been it."

A Cadiz waitress who was a former girl friend of Dowdell had told police she rejected several telephoned appeals for dates with him the same day he died.

Hiller said he found no evidence any persons other than McPhee and Dowdell were involved in the incident.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Beep . . . beep . . . beep . . . beep . . ." This is the sound of the future. And, at the moment, it has a Russian accent.

Around the world in about an hour and half goes the Soviet moonlet. Constantly its radio transmitter sends back that haunting telltale beep. You can hear the beep on any short-wave radio. You may be able to see the satellite itself soon. Some say they already have seen it.

The Russians are busy kissing their own reflections in mirrors over their triumph in being first. The United States would have done more than a little crowing too if this country had taken the first big plunge into space.

How come we didn't, after all the talking U.S. officials did about big plans for a satellite?

Already there is the usual demand for an investigation. Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) wants the Senate Armed Services Committee to call in defense officials and scientists for questioning. "This is a very serious matter that cannot be laughed off," Symington says. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty shows no dismay that the Russians successfully launched the first artificial moon. "We never thought of our program as one which was in a race with the Soviets," Hagerty says.

But the Russians obviously thought they were in a race and proceeded to win it. It isn't so hard to win a race when your opponent didn't hear the starting gun.

Scientifically, it may not matter that the Russians were first with a missile powerful enough to plant a beach-ball-sized sphere more than 500 miles in the air. This country's satellite project is known to be well along and presumably can catch up. But disturbing questions arise in other fields:

1. What does the rest of the world think? The Soviet satellites (of the earthbound variety, that is) are happily trumpeting that Russia has taken over world leadership in research and development.

2. Is this country devoting enough attention to science and engineering? Many educators and others have long contended that we are not—that the Soviets are forging ahead of us.

3. What happens next? We'll try to get our own satellite off the ground, of course, at our relatively leisurely pace. What then?

It would answer a good many questions of this sort if the American people, squinting into the sun for a glimpse of the man-moon, had a detailed report from their government on just what has happened and what is being done about it.

Toledo Art Museum Chief Agog Over Brazilian Display

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—"With great pleasure and frank envy," said Blake-More Godwin, director of the Toledo Museum of Art, sums up his feelings as host to an exhibit of 100 European masterpieces from the Sao Paulo Museum in Brazil. The exhibit is scheduled Oct. 9 to Nov. 17 with a private showing Oct. 8 for museum members.

"We feel extremely privileged to have this exhibit here," said Godwin. "But every time I look at it, I see reminders that this fellow Chateaubriand has beaten us to many great paintings."

Godwin was referring to Brazilian Sen. Assis Chateaubriand who has built up the collection almost singlehandedly in the brief period since World War II and who founded the Sao Paulo Museum.

Godwin's associate director,

Otto Whittmann Jr., recalled the first time that the Toledo museum became aware of Chateaubriand's activities in art buying.

"It was around 1950 and I was in London," Whittmann said. "I saw four decorative panels representing the four seasons, painted by Delacroix, a French romantic of the early 19th Century."

"I asked for an option on the panels, only to find they already had been optioned to Chateaubriand."

Not long after that, said Whittmann, "the same thing happened again when I tried to buy a pair of pictures of Andries van der Horst and his wife by the 17th Century Dutch portrait artist Hals. Since then, it seems we run into Chateaubriand every time we're after a good painting."

The Sao Paulo exhibit was shown at the Metropolitan Museum in New York last spring. Before that it appeared in Milan, Paris and London. When the Toledo showing is completed, the paintings are scheduled to go to their home, the new Sao Paulo Museum building, now under construction.

Chateaubriand founded the museum in 1947, housing it temporarily in his Diarios Associados building in Sao Paulo. He owns some 30 newspapers as well as several television and radio stations and magazines.

Godwin said there are several parallels between the Toledo and Sao Paulo museums.

Both, he said, "were founded by successful men who felt their communities and nations should not live by industry and agriculture alone, that culture is an essential part of their systems."

Toledo's museum was founded in 1901 by Edward Drummond Libbey, one of the fathers of the bustling glass industry here.

Another parallel is the emphasis on education by the two museums. Each holds classes in art, dramatics and music to stimulate interest in all the arts as well as create enthusiasts for the museums themselves.

Sao Paulo's young museum has been called the "mushroom museum" because of its rapid rise to prominence among the world's art centers.

The city, growing rapidly on a base of coffee, rubber and new industry, similarly has been described as the "boom town of the world" and compared to Chicago in its early days.

To house the exhibit, the Toledo museum emptied nine of its most important galleries which normally contain 120 paintings by French impressionist and American painters.

One painting from the exhibit, "A Floral Offering to Hymen, God of Marriage," by Poussin, the 17th Century French classic painter, posted a particular problem.

The painting measures 66 by 148½ inches. Workmen were unable to get it through interior doors from the museum shipping room and had to cart it around the building to enter the galleries through the front doors.

Godwin, discussing the collection, said it ranges roughly from Raphael and Rembrandt to Renoir and Modigliani.

"It contains some of the very great works of art and is evidence of the rapid development of culture in one of our friendly neighbors in South America," he said.

Godwin estimated attendance at the exhibit would reach between 50,000 and 60,000 persons from throughout the Midwest.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a woman 65 years old, almost; and lately I feel so disorganized. Maybe I've always been that way, but now it seems I can hardly stand it.

Little things I say or don't say; or do, or don't do, bother me immensely. I lie awake nights thinking of them, and arise worn out.

I have worked in an office for years—nearly all my married life, and for 10 years before. We have two married daughters and grandchildren, whom we see only occasionally as they live hundreds of miles away.

I have been a church member all my life and my faith in God is strong. He has been good to us in many ways. My husband was drinking heavily some years ago, but he stopped suddenly and there has been no problem since.

Maybe I have a guilt complex, or an inferiority complex; or maybe I am on the wrong track in thinking so. A strong-minded relative who lives nearby has been a fly in the ointment all my life—telling me where I err; although she has made as many mistakes.

Well, the gist of it is that I wish I could feel surer of myself; that what I do is right and that I am doing my best, trying to lead as good a life as I know how. Otherwise I feel that my mind will slip; I feel so confused.

Perhaps I should stop office work and concentrate on my home. I think we might manage without my earnings, at least after January. There is much more I could write, but it may not be pertinent.

DEAR AM.: It occurs to me that Adelle Davis' book "Let's eat Right to Keep Fit" (Harcourt, Brace) may be a light bearer as regards the nature and origin of your confusion.

On page 191, Mrs. Davis discusses the body's requirements of iron to maintain good health. Among other things she says: "... Long use of iron deficient diets causes anemia to be prevalent in women, at and after the menopause. Besides causing needless fatigue, mental confusion and depression, anemia can bring about such forgetfulness that these women often become convinced they are losing their minds."

Mrs. Davis takes issue with the prevalent notion that a normal blood count in women shows 4½ million red cells, and 80 to 100 percent hemoglobin—in comparison to 5½ million cells in men, and 100 percent hemoglobin for them.

Rather, her research and experience show that when growing girls and women of reproductive age are given a diet adequate in iron and other nutrients, their "average" blood count increases to 5½ million and 100 percent hemoglobin is maintained—same as in men.

Thus she argues that the accepted standard blood count for women is actually below normal. It may be "average" but it isn't optimum—that is, the best or most favorable degree, quality, number, etc.

Mrs. Davis points to the National Research Council's recommendation of 12 milligrams of iron daily, for adults; and 15 milligrams for adolescents and pregnant women. But she remarks that "any diet adequate in protein and the B vitamins, supplied by natural sources, will be more than adequate in iron."

However, if anemia does persist after a sound nutrition program is observed, a doctor certainly should be consulted, she says. Then she goes on to the subject of iodine—"too little of which can be even worse than a lack of iron," she believes.

For advice: read the book; make notes of suggestions that bear on your symptoms; and go into action, with the consultative help of

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a woman 65 years old, almost; and lately I feel so disorganized. Maybe I've always been that way, but now it seems I can hardly stand it.

Little things I say or don't say; or do, or don't do, bother me immensely. I lie awake nights thinking of them, and arise worn out.

I have worked in an office for years—nearly all my married life, and for 10 years before. We have two married daughters and grandchildren, whom we see only occasionally as they live hundreds of miles away.

I have been a church member all my life and my faith in God is strong. He has been good to us in many ways. My husband was drinking heavily some years ago, but he stopped suddenly and there has been no problem since.

Maybe I have a guilt complex, or an inferiority complex; or maybe I am on the wrong track in thinking so. A strong-minded relative who lives nearby has been a fly in the ointment all my life—telling me where I err; although she has made as many mistakes.

Well, the gist of it is that I wish I could feel surer of myself; that what I do is right and that I am doing my best, trying to lead as good a life as I know how. Otherwise I feel that my mind will slip; I feel so confused.

Perhaps I should stop office work and concentrate on my home. I think we might manage without my earnings, at least after January. There is much more I could write, but it may not be pertinent.

A. M.

DEAR A.M.: It occurs to me that Adelle Davis' book "Let's eat Right to Keep Fit" (Harcourt, Brace) may be a light bearer as regards the nature and origin of your confusion.

On page 191, Mrs. Davis discusses the body's requirements of iron to maintain good health. Among other things she says: "... Long use of iron deficient diets causes anemia to be prevalent in women, at and after the menopause. Besides causing needless fatigue, mental confusion and depression, anemia can bring about such forgetfulness that these women often become convinced they are losing their minds."

Mrs. Davis takes issue with the prevalent notion that a normal blood count in women shows 4½ million red cells, and 80 to 100 percent hemoglobin—in comparison to 5½ million cells in men, and 100 percent hemoglobin for them.

Rather, her research and experience show that when growing girls and women of reproductive age are given a diet adequate in iron and other nutrients, their "average" blood count increases to 5½ million and 100 percent hemoglobin is maintained—same as in men.

Thus she argues that the accepted standard blood count for women is actually below normal. It may be "average" but it isn't optimum—that is, the best or most favorable degree, quality, number, etc.

Mrs. Davis points to the National Research Council's recommendation of 12 milligrams of iron daily, for adults; and 15 milligrams for adolescents and pregnant women. But she remarks that "any diet adequate in protein and the B vitamins, supplied by natural sources, will be more than adequate in iron."

However, if anemia does persist after a sound nutrition program is observed, a doctor certainly should be consulted, she says. Then she goes on to the subject of iodine—"too little of which can be even worse than a lack of iron," she believes.

For advice: read the book; make notes of suggestions that bear on your symptoms; and go into action, with the consultative help of

Bank Profits Still Climb, But Lull Seen

Net Earnings Said 10-15 Pct. Higher Than Summer, 1956

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Bank profits are still climbing at a good clip but two factors could slow this down to a walk in the months ahead.

Net operating earnings of leading banks in the three months just ended are from 10 to 15 per cent higher than in the summer of 1956.

This is due to the steady rise in interest rates on loans and to the sturdy demand of businessmen for funds for expansion and operation.

But some now sight signs of change in these two factors. Demand for business loans seems to be tapering off in various parts of the nation.

The volume of bank loans to business hasn't taken the usual fall spurt. Predictions that business won't need as much financing of expansion as in the past two years are popping up everywhere. The brake of tight money applied to the business boom seems to be working—some even fear it may work too well.

At the same time government reports show that the total of savings is rising, meaning more funds available for lending.

Together these strengthen the belief of a growing number of bankers that interest rates may have reached a peak. They could level off now after their long climb. Or they could even slip back a bit. Bolstering this view is the recent firming up of bond prices after a long slide.

If these two factors — less demand and lower rates — develop as some expect, it would mean a decline in the total of loans and no greater return, perhaps even less of a return, upon them. The banks' gravy train ride could be ending, or at best coasting.

Bank statements being published these days mirror very clearly the state of the economy, as well as showing how the banks have prospered.

In most cases deposits are up and loans are up. Many show an increase in assets over a year ago. Some of the largest are asking their shareholders to subscribe to new issues of common stock, with the greatly increase net operating income as a talking point.

Cheerful Visit

But many banks also report they have been taking a loss in the sale of securities. Past weakness in the government bond market explains much of this. Banks have been selling government securities at considerably less than they paid for them. They wanted the money to lend to clamoring businessmen. The higher interest banks get from loans makes up for the loss taken on sales of bonds that pay very little in comparison.

While tight money may have cut down the volume of loans the banks could have made, it undoubtedly has increased their earnings. And the loan volume is almost universally higher than a year ago. Bankers say it isn't out of line with good banking practice and that collections, if a bit slower are still good.

To cut down speeding in New York, a law was passed in 1952 which compelled drivers to walk beside their vehicles.

11 Agencies Included in Community Chest

Eleven agencies are included in this year's Community Chest. Here they are—and what they do:

BOY SCOUTS AND CUB SCOUTS - Almost 400 boys take part in the scouting program here in Washington C. H. and throughout the county. There are three Scout troops in the city and three in the county. There are six Cub packs in the city and five in Fayette County.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS - More than 150 girls are active in the Bluebird and Camp Fire program in Washington C. H. and the troop at Jeffersonville. Their day camp held for the first time this summer gave outdoor camping experience to a big majority of them.

COMMUNITY ACTIVITY FUND - Provides funds for the Christmas program including the lights, trees, nativity scene, Santa Claus and the candy treat for hundreds of youngsters; and a portion of the money for the Halloween and July 4 celebrations carried on by the Jaycees.

4-H CLUB CAMP - This money is used to pay Fayette County's share of the permanent improvements at Camp Clifton. This past summer approximately 200 young people and some 20 adults from our county spent from a week-end to an entire week at the camp. No funds needed this year.

GIRL SCOUTS - There are almost 100 girls taking part in the Girl Scouts here in Washington C. H. The program has been reorganized and is expanding rapidly. Forty-nine girls attended a day camp for six or more days in July.

PUBLIC PARK - Thousands of adults and children use the many facilities of the Public Park each summer. Picnicking, baseball, softball, basketball, football and model airplane flying are just a few of the many things going on at the park almost the year round.

RED CROSS AND BLOOD BANK - The Red Cross joined with the Community Chest in a united campaign last fall for the first time. One third of the total Red Cross budget goes toward the expense of the local blood bank. Gray ladies, water safety and first aid are other services.

RETARDED CHILDREN - This newly formed Fayette County Council for Retarded Children is in the Chest for the first time. These funds are being used to help maintain a local class for mentally retarded children. The class is now in operation.

SALVATION ARMY - Medical assistance, purchase of food, clothing and fuel; gasoline and lodgings for transients are some of the many avenues of help given locally. The Salvation Army's continuous program of service to those in need is carried on throughout the county.

U. S. O. - "A home away from home" is provided for our boys in service by the U. S. O. through its service clubs and centers all over the world. There are still approximately 200 individuals from Fayette County in the nation's armed forces.

Y. W. C. A. (Y-Teens) - The local Y. W. C. A. Council acts as sponsoring organization for the Y-Teen clubs in our high schools. There are three in Washington High School with 165 girls, and one at Bloomingburg High School with around 40 girls.

One of her cows has been the open class grand champion in the Fayette County Fair for the past three years. She has also exhibited at the Ohio State Fair.

THE MARION MARVELS had a topnotch health program, Phil Grover, assistant county agent, points out. The club solicited Marion Township for the heart, cancer, polio, Community Chest and CROP fund-raising drives. They prepared first-aid kits for each of the livestock barns at the local fairgrounds and collected milk samples from the farmers in Marion Township when the milk ring

BRIDGE SUIT DISMISSED

The State of Ohio has settled its dispute with the driver of an automobile who damaged the Route 22 bridge over the North Fork of Paint Creek four years ago.

The state had asked recovery of $66.27 plus 6 per cent interest from Robert H. Finkernagel, Sommerfield, Fla., after Finkernagel's car struck the span in an accident occurring in 1953. The suit was filed in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

Judge John P. Case has now dismissed the action following settlement of the claim. Court costs were assessed against the defendant.

Columbus Police Study Holdup Of Supermart

2 Polite Bandits Hold 6 as Hostages In Well-Planned Theft

COLUMBUS (AP) — Police today worked to solve a carefully planned and daringly executed supermarket robbery in which six persons were held captive by two gentlemen thieves in the store manager's home.

Officers said the six, including a 6-year-old boy, were held hostage in an Upper Arlington home Saturday night while the child's father was forced at gunpoint to open two safes in a Columbus supermarket he manages.

The two robbers, one wearing a stocking cap mask, got an undetermined amount of money from the store and made good their escape.

Investigators, noting the careful planning involved, said the two wore adhesive tape over their fingertips to avoid leaving prints.

Ray Evans, 38, the store manager, said the robbers were courteous and calm throughout the operation.

He said the one unmasked robber who accompanied him to the store knew the route from the Evans home well and told Evans exactly which way to go at each turn.

"HE SAID he's been watching us for about two months," Evans told police Sunday. "He even made me walk into my office and hang up my coat just like I do every morning."

While the one robber escorted Evans to the store, the other stayed behind to watch over the hostages. The latter included Evans' wife, Miriam, their son, Larry, 6, Mrs. Evans' mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Speicher, and Kenneth Allerton, assistant manager of the robbed store, and his wife.

Evans said his wife left home late Saturday night to pick him up at the store. Shortly after she left, the armed duo walked in the open front door of the home and cornered Evans' son and Mr. and Mrs. Speicher, who live at the same address.

The gunmen took them to an upstairs bedroom and bound their hands and feet with wire, then hid

P&G Is Accused In Clorox Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government charged today that Procter & Gamble Co. violated the anti-trust law in acquiring the Clorox Chemical Co.

A Federal Trade Commission complaint said the big soap firm's acquisition of Clorox, which it described as the nation's largest seller of liquid household bleach, "may substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly."

It gave Procter & Gamble 30 days in which to file an answer to the complaint, and said a hearing would be held Dec. 16 in Cincinnati, home of the company.

in the dining room until Evans and his wife returned. The robbers then tied up Mrs. Evans after also ordering her upstairs.

Evans said the robbers learned that he did not have the store keys. They tied him up, too, and settled down to wait for the arrival of Allerton, who, Evans was forced to disclose, was bringing the keys to the home.

When Allerton arrived, he was met at the door and tied up by one gunman while the other took the keys from his pocket.

MRS. ALLERTON, waiting in her husband's car, was approached by one robber who "asked me if I would please come into the house with him. I told him no."

Mrs. Allerton said the man told her, "Lady, I'm a thief, and my partner and I are going to rob a grocery store tonight."

She said she became convinced when he showed her a gun and she went into the house.

Evans, meanwhile, was driving the unmasked robber to the supermarket. He said the robber forced him to open the safes and put the money into a pillow case taken from the home.

The gunman then made Evans drive to a wooded area, where the robber disconnected the battery cables on the auto and tied Evans with wire, a belt and necktie and left him in the back seat. Evans said he heard a car drive down the road shortly afterward and figured it was the gunman going to meet his partner.

Evans said he freed himself about 15 minutes later and walked to a nearby house to call police.

Bank Profits Still Climb, But Lull Seen

Net Earnings Said 10-15 Pct. Higher Than Summer, 1956

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Bank profits are still climbing at a good clip but two factors could slow this down to a walk in the months ahead.

Net operating earnings of leading banks in the three months just ended are from 10 to 15 per cent higher than in the summer of 1956.

This is due to the steady rise in interest rates on loans and to the sturdy demand of businessmen for funds for expansion and operation.

But some now sight signs of change in these two factors. Demand for business loans seems to be tapering off in various parts of the nation.

The volume of bank loans to business hasn't taken the usual fall spurt. Predictions that business won't need as much financing of expansion as in the past two years are popping up everywhere. The brake of tight money applied to the business boom seems to be working—some even fear it may work too well.

At the same time government reports show that the total of savings is rising, meaning more funds available for lending.

Together these strengthen the belief of a growing number of bankers that interest rates may have reached a peak. They could level off now after their long climb. Or they could even slip back a bit. Bolstering this view is the recent firming up of bond prices after a long slide.

If these two factors — less demand and lower rates — develop as some expect, it would mean a decline in the total of loans and no greater return, perhaps even less of a return, upon them. The banks' gravy train ride could be ending, or at best coasting.

Bank statements being published these days mirror very clearly the state of the economy, as well as showing how the banks have prospered.

In most cases deposits are up and loans are up. Many show an increase in assets over a year ago. Some of the largest are asking their shareholders to subscribe to new issues of common stock, with the greatly increase net operating income as a talking point.

But many banks also report they have been taking a loss in the sale of securities. Past weakness in the government bond market explains much of this. Banks have been selling government securities at considerably less than they paid for them. They wanted the money to lend to clamoring businessmen. The higher interest banks get from loans makes up for the loss taken on sales of bonds that pay very little in comparison.

While tight money may have cut down the volume of loans the banks could have made, it undoubtedly has increased their earnings. And the loan volume is almost universally higher than a year ago. Bankers say it isn't out of line with good banking practice and that collections, if a bit slower are still good.

To cut down speeding in New York, a law was passed in 1952 which compelled drivers to walk beside their vehicles.

11 Agencies Included in Community Chest

Eleven agencies are included in this year's Community Chest. Here they are--and what they do:

BOY SCOUTS AND CUB SCOUTS - Almost 400 boys take part in the scouting program here in Washington C. H. and throughout the county. There are three Scout troops in the city and three in the county. There are six Cub packs in the city and five in Fayette County.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS - More than 150 girls are active in the Bluebird and Camp Fire program in Washington C. H. and the troop at Jeffersonville. Their day camp held for the first time this summer gave outdoor camping experience to a big majority of them.

COMMUNITY ACTIVITY FUND - Provides funds for the Christmas program including the lights, trees, nativity scene, Santa Claus and the candy treat for hundreds of youngsters; and a portion of the money for the Halloween and July 4 celebrations carried on by the Jaycees.

4-H CLUB CAMP - This money is used to pay Fayette County's share of the permanent improvements at Camp Clifton. This past summer approximately 200 young people and some 20 adults from our county spent from a week-end to an entire week at the camp. No funds needed this year.

GIRL SCOUTS - There are almost 100 girls taking part in the Girl Scouts here in Washington C. H. The program has been reorganized and is expanding rapidly. Forty-nine girls attended a day camp for six or more days in July.

PUBLIC PARK - Thousands of adults and children use the many facilities of the Public Park each summer. Picnicking, baseball, softball, basketball, football and model airplane flying are just a few of the many things going on at the park almost the year round.

RED CROSS AND BLOOD BANK - The Red Cross joined with the Community Chest in a united campaign last fall for the first time. One third of the total Red Cross budget goes toward the expense of the local blood bank. Gray ladies, water safety and first aid are other services.

RETARDED CHILDREN - This newly formed Fayette County Council for Retarded Children is in the Chest for the first time. These funds are being used to help maintain a local class for mentally retarded children. The class is now in operation.

SALVATION ARMY - Medical assistance, purchase of food, clothing and fuel; gasoline and lodgings for transients are some of the many avenues of help given locally. The Salvation Army's continuous program of service to those in need is carried on throughout the country.

U. S. O. - "A home away from home" is provided for our boys in service by the U. S. O. through its service clubs and centers all over the world. There are still approximately 200 individuals from Fayette County in the nation's armed forces.

Y. W. C. A. (Y-Teens) - The local Y. W. C. A. Council acts as sponsoring organization for the Y-Teen clubs in our high schools. There are three in Washington High School with 165 girls, and one at Bloomingburg High School with around 40 girls.

Fayette 4-H Members Win National Honors

The Marion Marvels 4-H Club of Marion Township has been selected as one of the top eight clubs, among the 4,500 clubs in the state in the Health Improvement program.

Three other 4-H club members won in the district competition of the National Awards program. Mary Ann Creamer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Creamer of Route 1, Jeffersonville, won the 22-county Southwest District contest in home furnishings. Mary Ann, who redecorated her bedroom in the second year home furnishings project, is a member of the Bution and Batter 4-H Club.

ALAN WILT won the Southwest District competition in the boys' agricultural contest. Alan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wilt, Route 6, Washington C. H., is a member of the Wayne Progressive Farmers 4-H Club. He served as president of the Junior Fair Board, was an advisor of the 4-H tractor maintenance club and assistant advisor of the Wayne Progressive Farmers. (He has been a member for five years of the Junior Leaders' Club. His projects have consisted primarily of Chester White swine.

Mary K. Recob, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was the district winner of the dairy production contest. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Recob and a member of the Lucky Leaf Livestock Club, she has been an active member of the county-wide Junior Leadership Club and has Guernsey cows as her dairy project. One of her cows has been the open class grand champion in the Fayette County Fair for the past three years. She has also exhibited at the Ohio State Fair.

THE MARION MARVELS had a topnotch health program, Phil Grover, assistant county agent, points out. The club solicited Marion Township for the heart, cancer, polio, Community Chest and CROP fund-raising drives. They prepared first-aid kits for each of the livestock barns at the local fairgrounds and collected mild samples from the farmers in Marion Township when the milk ring

2 Polite Bandits Hold 6 as Hostages In Well-Planned Theft

COLUMBUS (AP) — Police today worked to solve a carefully planned and daringly executed supermarket robbery in which six persons were held captive by two gentlemen thieves in the store manager's home.

Officers said the six, including a 6-year-old boy, were held hostage in an Upper Arlington home Saturday night while the child's father was forced at gunpoint to open two safes in a Columbus supermarket he manages.

The two robbers, one wearing a stocking cap mask, got an undetermined amount of money from the store and made good their escape.

Investigators, noting the careful planning involved, said the two wore adhesive tape over their fingertips to avoid leaving prints.

Ray Evans, 38, the store manager, said the robbers were courteous and calm throughout the operation.

He said the one unmasked robber who accompanied him to the store knew the route from the Evans home well and told Evans exactly which way to go at each turn.

"HE SAID he's been watching us for about two months," Evans told police Sunday. "He even made me walk into my office and hang up my coat just like I do every morning."

While the one robber escorted Evans to the store, the other stayed behind to watch over the hostages. The latter included Evans' wife, Miriam, their son, Larry, 6, Mrs. Evans' mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Speicher, and Kenneth Allerton, assistant manager of the robbed store, and his wife.

Evans said his wife left home late Saturday night to pick him up at the store. Shortly after she left, the armed duo walked in the open front door of the home and cornered Evans' son and Mr. and Mrs. Speicher, who live at the same address.

The gunmen took them to an upstairs bedroom and bound their hands and feet with wire, then hid

P&G Is Accused In Clorox Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government charged today that Procter & Gamble Co. violated the anti-merger law in acquiring the Clorox Chemical Co.

A Federal Trade Commission complaint said the big soap firm's acquisition of Clorox, which it described as the nation's largest seller of liquid household bleach, "may substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly."

It gave Procter & Gamble 30 days in which to file an answer to the complaint, and said a hearing would be held Dec. 16 in Cincinnati, home of the company.

in the dining room until Evans and his wife returned. The robbers then tied up Mrs. Evans after also ordering her upstairs.

Evans said the robbers learned that he did not have the store keys. They tied him up, too, and settled down to wait for the arrival of Allerton, who, Evans was forced to disclose, was bringing the keys to the home.

When Allerton arrived, he was met at the door and tied up by one gunman while the other took the keys from his pocket.

MRS. ALLERTON, waiting in her husband's car, was approached by one robber who "asked me if I would please come into the house with him. I told him no."

Mrs. Allerton said the man told her, "Lady, I'm a thief, and my partner and I are going to rob a grocery store tonight."

Evans said he heard a car drive down the road shortly afterward and figured it was the gunman going to meet his partner.

Evans said he freed himself about 15 minutes later and walked to a nearby house to call police.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Recently while in Bloomington we spent a short time with Mrs. Robert Greenlee, who recently reached the age of 97 and is the oldest resident of Bloomington—and possibly of the county.

Mrs. Greenlee was born in the village, and outside of 17 years spent in Wooster, has spent her life in the town.

Her husband, who died in 1920, formerly operated a general store in what was known as the McClure building, a brick structure fronting on Main St., immediately north of the post office.

That was prior to 1899 when he sold the store and moved to Wooster.

Mrs. Greenlee, who has a remarkable memory, and is in fairly good health, resides on Lincoln St., and is proud of her good neighbors who visit her daily to assist her in any way possible.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Holland, and a sister of Mahlon Holland who died a number of years ago. Two daughters and a son are dead, the son having been killed by an auto in Chicago.

She was born on West St., next to the home of Mrs. Wayne Bloomer. The house is still standing.

Later I hope to tell you of some of the recollections Mrs. Greenlee has of the village during the past 90 years and more.

REAL LOAD OF LOGS

Used to be that one, two and three logs being hauled to a sawmill, was a heavy load for a wagon and oxen or horses. The number of oxen used in the early days in this area was surprisingly large.

Now, with trucks and modern loading devices, the number of logs hauled, and their weight is little short of astonishing.

For instance a few days ago I saw a truck loaded with logs, which were two feet down to one foot in diameter, and the pyramid contained 19 logs. I counted them twice to make sure I was not mistaken.

The logs, some 12 feet in length were piled eight or nine feet in height and were kept in place by chains—a most dangerous load to have on the highways should the chains break.

FIRE THORN BEAUTIFUL

One of the most beautiful ornamental shrubs grown in this community is the fire-thorn (pyracantha coccinea), which is partly evergreen, has white flowers, and, at this season of the year, is simply loaded with bright red berries.

It is of European origin, and I have never seen more than two dozen of the shrubs in this city and county.

Like the mimosa tree, it is an ornamental tree or shrub which would bear increasing a hundred fold by reason of their beauty.

These shrubs have not been grown in this area more than 15 or 20 years, and I am surprised that they have not been more widely cultivated for their clusters of red berries and evergreen leaves.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Gen. E. F. Glenn, commander of Camp Sherman, addressed large number business men at the YMCA and spoke of the seriousness of the World War and the need of full support of the government by everyone.

British and French hurled the Germans back on several miles of front in Flanders and repulsed counter attacks.

A Marion man was sent to the state reformatory for stealing a horse and buggy from Coke McArthur.

Mayor U. G. Creamer, Jeffersonville, acting upon emergency order of village council, seized a carload of coal in DT&I yards and ordered it sold in half ton lots to relieve an acute fuel shortage.

A few days later the Washington C. H. council ordered Mayor John Oster to seize at least five car loads of coal from 26 car loads parked in CH&D RR yards here, and sell it to relieve coal shortage here.

The First Liberty Loan drive was launched in county.

The greatest number of cars on record passed through the county Sunday, enroute to and from Camp Sherman where thousands of men were in training.

Dahl Campbell Wholesale Co. was awarded a contract to furnish all groceries, fruit, vegetables, crackers, cakes, and eggs for Camp Sherman.

Plans were made by Council to remodel the newly purchased Myers Building at cost of $400.

The Chillicothe Rd. was to be improved at once to meet heavy traffic occasioned by Camp Sherman.

Three-cent letter postage was to become effective Nov. 3.

The Cherry Hotel opened a cafeteria.

The B&O Railroad was hauling water from Orient to Midland City to provide water for engines of both divisions at that point because of a water shortage caused by drought.

Reds Betting on Odd Radio Signals To Track 'Sputnik'

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

To detect her moon, Russia is betting mainly on a somewhat odd choice of radio signals from it. These signals could fade or be distorted, making it hard to pinpoint the exact location of the speeding Sputnik — Russian for earth satellite.

Sputnik's path has to be learned before most human observers could spot it. They'll have to know where and when to look to glimpse it—and then use binoculars.

The longer Sputnik whirls, the better the chance of tracking her. But her batteries might go dead before they reveal her path.

Or meteorites—bullet-speed bits of metal and stone—might knock them out as they rip through the moon.

Russia is also relying on 66 moonwatch teams of paid observers, scanning the skies along the initially-expected path of Sputnik.

The problem of wondering "where'd she go?" after you launch a moon prompted U. S. scientists to set up a triple method of observing, and then learning scientific details from her moons.

One is a picket fence of mini-track radio stations all along the 75th meridian. Our moons will broadcast on 108 megacycles, to penetrate through the earth's electrified belt in space without distortion. That chain is almost all in working order now.

But it can't find Sputnik Russia had once been understood to have agreed to use the same frequency.

Instead she chose lower frequencies—20 and 40 megacycles—saying this would permit amateurs to help find and learn from Sputnik. The minitrack chain can't receive those frequencies.

American radio experts say these frequencies could fade or be bent in coming through the iono-sphere, hence not give a precise location of the moon.

The United States organized 100 moonwatch teams here, 50 abroad. They can scan the sky along the expected orbit, perhaps find the moon if its battery went dead.

Third is a network—just getting started—of special camera telescopes.

These can zero in on the moon when its path is known, for invaluable knowledge. Slight variations in a moon's path will give information about the shape and size of the earth, its pull of gravity.

Russia is reported interested in buying such cameras herself—an indication she does not have this method.

One of her scientists on Thursday invited observations of Soviet moons, especially by the revealing telescopic cameras.

Sputnik and following moons can disclose vital knowledge about the thinning density of air high above the earth. To get these facts, its path has to be accurately tracked to determine how much the air is slowing it down.

The official Soviet announcement made no mention of instruments inside Sputnik. But Dr. A. A. Blagonravov, Soviet scientist now in Washington, said it was also measuring temperatures in space.

This data could be radioed back in coded pulses.

It could be tremendously exciting news, but Russia has not announced any code key.

In the plans and spirit of the International Geophysical Year, all data learned in any fields is to be fully shared by all 64 participating nations.

Word is still awaited from the Soviets as to how close Sputnik comes to earth, how far out in space she swings.

Before and After in Little Rock

Center of Racial Dispute Like Hurricane Eye—Calm

Editor's Note — Nine Negro students are in school, but is Little Rock's problem solved? A Pulitzer prize-winning reporter, Reiman Morin, who has been on the scene since the violence started, leans back for a long, objective look at what has happened and what's to come. This is the first of five articles.

By REIMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—This is the eye of the hurricane, the dead center of the storm.

There is the same deceptive calm, the same feeling in the air, the sense of vast and destructive forces swirling toward disaster.

This is Little Rock.

A police car siren screams in the street. People who wouldn't have noticed it a month ago look up anxiously now. A riot starting? "I've got a loaded shotgun beside my bed," says a man.

If he hears a sound in the night, he will reach for it.

At night the telephoning starts, the threats and warnings.

"Who is this?"

A click.

The phone goes dead.

The calls come to parents. Segregationists would like to force a mass boycott of Central High School.

"There's going to be trouble at school...better keep your daughter home." No name.

They come to the father of a boy who delivers the Arkansas Gazette, the Little Rock newspaper fighting Gov. Orval Faubus. "If you don't want something to happen to your kid..." No name.

They even come to legislators. A man's voice says to State Sen. Charles Yngling, "Understand you're in favor of a cooling off period instead of closing the schools...there's a slab at the undertaker's where you'll be cooling off."

It's hardest on the parents. Most are letting their children go to the high school — and worrying over what the die-hards may do in reprisal.

Some are keeping their boys and girls away — and worrying for a different reason. A woman, calls the segregationist Capitol Citizens Council. "My daughter wants to go back. She's falling behind in her studies. What shall I do?"

Even seeing Little Rock today, you can't believe it.

Federal troops in a southern city? Bayonets pointed at American men and women? Impossible. All that ended 90 years ago. It couldn't happen in this day and age.

But it has happened.

Force confronts raw force now. Twice a day, the power of federal authority pushes through massive resentment to take Negro students to school, against the wishes of most of the people. Seventy per cent? Eighty? Who can say?

And no end is in sight in Little Rock. Nothing has been settled. A decision is postponed. But what happens when the troops are withdrawn?

Moderates can only hope. "Maybe people will get used to it..." Segregationists say they are simply waiting. "We can't do much now. But you'll see."

Little Rock is a nice place. People say "howdy" to strangers. They are courteous in their cars, on the streets, in the stores. They are proud of their city.

It's a good looking city, clean and bright with tree-shaded streets. There is a church on every other corner, handsome buildings, good schools. People have two interesting and well-edited newspapers.

Yet, in other states and even in other nations today, Little Rock is an ugly symbol. It represents mob violence. It represents the most critical clash between a sovereign state and the federal government since the Civil War and the reconstruction.

What has happened here hangs over all of America.

The reason is quite clear.

It took federal troops to enforce a law. Now a high school has been integrated. Negroes are sitting in classrooms with white children. Under guns, the law is being obeyed.

But what of the future?

If the Negroes should be forced out of school again, it will strengthen the hands of segregationists everywhere. Who can expect compliance with the Supreme Court ruling anywhere else in the South?

Vice versa, if they stay, will segregationist opposition go down like a row of dominoes, with Little Rock the first domino?

Further, is this to be the pattern for integration everywhere? Violence, followed by the rumble of Army trucks and naked bayonets?

In short, for both sides, a gauntlet has been thrown. Perhaps, somehow, reasoning people on both sides will find the compromise. And perhaps history will mark Little Rock as the turning point in the greatest social struggle of a century.

How did this come about?

You could go back a long way. You could point to the workings of city and state politics, the operations of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, the interplay of ambition and high emotion.

It's an incredible story. It begins with a man who thought he had devised a plan for integration that would satisfy everybody — until another man, Gov. Orval Faubus, decided to use force.

Mrs. Greenlee, who has a remarkable memory, and is in fairly good health, resides on Lincoln St., and is proud of her good neighbors who visit her daily to assist her in any way possible.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Holland, and a sister of Mahlon Holland who died a number of years ago. Two daughters and a son are dead, the son having been killed by an auto in Chicago.

She was born on West St., next to the home of Mrs. Wayne Bloomer. The house is still standing.

Later I hope to tell you of some of the recollections Mrs. Greenlee has of the village during the past 90 years and more.

REAL LOAD OF LOGS
Used to be that one, two and three logs being hauled to a sawmill, was a heavy load for a wagon and oxen or horses. The number of oxen used in the early days in this area was surprisingly large.

Now, with trucks and modern loading devices, the number of logs hauled, and their weight is little short of astonishing.

For instance a few days ago I saw a truck loaded with logs, which were two feet down to one foot in diameter, and the pyramid contained 19 logs. I counted them twice to make sure I was not mistaken.

The logs, some 12 feet in length were piled eight or nine feet in height and were kept in place by chains—a most dangerous load to have on the highways should the chains break.

FIRE THORN BEAUTIFUL
One of the most beautiful ornamental shrubs grown in this community is the fire-thorn (pyracantha coccinea), which is partly evergreen, has white flowers, and, at this season of the year, is simply loaded with bright red berries.

It is of European origin, and I have never seen more than two dozen of the shrubs in this city and county.

Like the mimosa tree, it is an ornamental tree or shrub which would bear increasing a hundred fold by reason of its beauty.

These shrubs have not been grown in this area more than 15 or 20 years, and I am surprised that they have not been more widely cultivated for their clusters of red berries and evergreen leaves.

FORTY YEARS AGO
Gen. E. F. Glenn, commander of Camp Sherman, addressed large number business men at the YMCA and spoke of the seriousness of the World War and the need of full support of the government by everyone.

British and French hurled the Germans back on several miles of front in Flanders and repulsed counter attacks.

A Marion man was sent to the state reformatory for stealing a horse and buggy from Coke McArthur.

Mayor U. G. Creamer, Jeffersonville, acting upon emergency order of village council, seized a carload of coal in DT&I yards and ordered it sold in half ton lots to relieve an acute fuel shortage.

A few days later the Washington C. H. council ordered Mayor John Oster to seize at least five car loads of coal from 26 car loads parked in CH&D RR yards here, and sell it to relieve coal shortage here.

The First Liberty Loan drive was launched in county.

The greatest number of cars on record passed through the county Sunday, enroute to and from Camp Sherman where thousands of men were in training.

Dahl Campbell Wholesale Co. was awarded a contract to furnish all groceries, fruit, vegetables, crackers, cakes, and eggs for Camp Sherman.

Plans were made by Council to remodel the newly purchased Myers Building at cost of $400.

The Chillicothe Rd. was to be improved at once to meet heavy traffic occasioned by Camp Sherman.

Three-cent letter postage was to become effective Nov. 3.

The Cherry Hotel opened a cafeteria.

The B&O Railroad was hauling water from Orient to Midland City to provide water for engines of both divisions at that point because of a water shortage caused by drought.

Before and After in Little Rock

Center of Racial Dispute Like Hurricane Eye—Calm

Editor's Note — Nine Negro students are in school, but is Little Rock's problem solved? A Pulitzer prizewinning reporter, Reiman Morin, who has been on the scene since the violence started, leans back for a long, objective look at what has happened and what's to come. This is the first of five articles.

By REIMAN MORIN
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — This is the eye of the hurricane, the dead center of the storm.

There is the same deceptive calm, the same feeling in the air, the sense of vast and destructive forces swirling toward disaster.

This is Little Rock.

A police car siren screams in the street. People who wouldn't have noticed it a month ago look up anxiously now. A riot starting?

"I've got a loaded shotgun beside my bed," says a man.

If he hears a sound in the night, he will reach for it.

At night the telephoning starts, the threats and warnings.

"Who is this?"

A click.

The phone goes dead.

The calls come to parents. Segregationists would like to force a mass boycott of Central High School.

"There's going to be trouble at school...better keep your daughter home." No name.

They come to the father of a boy who delivers the Arkansas Gazette, the Little Rock newspaper fighting Gov. Orval Faubus. "If you don't want something to happen to your kid..." No name.

They even come to legislators. A man's voice says to State Sen. Charles Yinging, "Understand you're in favor of a cooling off period instead of closing the schools...there's a slab at the undertaker's where you'll be cooling off."

It's hardest on the parents. Most are letting their children go to the high school — and worrying over what the die-hards may do in reprisal.

Some are keeping their boys and girls away — and worrying for a different reason. A woman, in tears, calls the segregationist Capitol Citizens Council. "My daughter wants to go back. She's falling behind in her studies. What shall I do?"

Even seeing Little Rock today, you can't believe it.

Federal troops in a southern city? Bayonets pointed at American men and women? Impossible. All that ended 90 years ago. It couldn't happen in this day and age.

But it has happened.

Force confronts raw force now.

Twice a day, the power of federal authority pushes through massive resentment to take Negro students to school, against the wishes of most of the people. Seventy per cent? Eighty? Who can say?

And no end is in sight in Little Rock. Nothing has been settled. A decision is postponed. But what happens when the troops are withdrawn?

Moderates can only hope. "Maybe people will get used to it..."

Segregationists say they are simply waiting. "We can't do much now. But you'll see..."

Little Rock is a nice place.

People say "howdy" to strangers. They are courteous in their cars, on the streets, in the stores. They are proud of their city. It's a good looking city, clean and bright with tree-shaded streets. There is a church on every other corner, handsome buildings, good schools. People have two interesting and well-edited newspapers.

Yet, in other states and even in other nations today, Little Rock is an ugly symbol. It represents mob violence. It represents the most critical clash between a sovereign state and the federal government since the Civil War and the reconstruction.

What has happened here hangs over all of America.

The reason is quite clear.

It took federal troops to enforce a law. Now a high school has been integrated. Negroes are sitting in classrooms with white children. Under guns, the law is being obeyed.

But what of the future?

If the Negroes should be forced out of school again, it will strengthen the hands of segregationists everywhere. Who can expect compliance with the Supreme Court ruling anywhere else in the South?

Vice versa, if they stay, will segregationist opposition go down like a row of dominoes, with Little Rock the first domino?

Further, is this to be the pattern for integration everywhere? Violence, followed by the rumble of Army trucks and naked bayonets?

In short, for both sides, a gauntlet has been thrown. Perhaps, somehow, reasoning people on both sides will find the compromise. And perhaps history will mark Little Rock as the turning point in the greatest social struggle of a century.

How did this come about?

You could go back a long way. You could point to the workings of city and state politics, the operations of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, the interplay of ambition and high emotion.

It's an incredible story.

It begins with a man who thought he had devised a plan for integration that would satisfy everybody — until another man, Gov. Orval Faubus, decided to use force.

Reds Betting on Odd Radio Signals To Track 'Sputnik'

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
To detect her moon, Russia is betting mainly on a somewhat odd choice of radio signals from it. These signals could fade or be distorted, making it hard to pinpoint the exact location of the speeding Sputnik — Russian for earth satellite.

Sputnik's path has to be learned before most human observers could spot it. They'll have to know where and when to look to glimpse it—and then use binoculars.

The longer Sputnik whirs, the better the chance of tracking her. But her batteries might go dead before they reveal her path.

Or meteorites—bullet-speed bits of metal and stone—might knock them out as they rip through the moon.

Russia is also relying on 66 moonwatch teams of paid observers, scanning the skies along the initially-expected path of Sputnik.

The problem of wondering "where'd she go?" after you launch a moon prompted U. S. scientists to set up a triple method of observing, and then learning scientific details from her moons.

One is a picket fence of mini-track radio stations all along the 75th meridian. Our moons will broadcast on 108 megacycles, to penetrate through the earth's electrified belt in space without distortion. That chain is almost all in working order now.

But it can't find Sputnik. Russia had once been understood to have agreed to use the same frequency.

Instead she chose lower frequencies—20 and 40 megacycles—saying this would permit amateurs to help find and learn from Sputnik. The minitrack chain can't receive those frequencies.

American radio experts say these frequency could fade or be bent in coming through the iono-sphere, hence not give a precise location of the moon.

The United States organized 100 moonwatch teams here, 50 abroad. They can scan the sky along the expected orbit, perhaps find the moon if its battery went dead.

Third is a network—just getting started—of special camera telescopes.

These can zero in on the moon when its path is known, for invaluable knowledge. Slight variations in a moon's path will give information about the shape and size of the earth, its pull of gravity.

Russia is reported interested in buying such cameras herself—an indication she does not have this method.

One of her scientists on Thursday invited observations of Soviet moons, especially by the revealing telescopic cameras.

Sputnik and following moons can disclose vital knowledge about the thinning density of air high above the earth. To get these facts, its path has to be accurately tracked to determine how much the air is slowing it down.

The official Soviet announcement made no mention of instruments inside Sputnik. But Dr. A. A. Blagonravov, Soviet scientist now in Washington, said it was also measuring temperatures in space.

This data could be radioed back in coded pulses.

It could be tremendously exciting news, but Russia has not announced any code key.

In the plans and spirit of the International Geophysical Year, all data learned in any fields is to be fully shared by all 64 participating nations.

Word is still awaited from the Soviets as to how close Sputnik comes to earth, how far out in space she swings.

Army, Irish Due To Tangle On Saturday

Old Rivalry Dates Back
To 1913; Oklahoma Set
For Its 43rd Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Back in 1913, Army played a little-known team from the Midwest for the first time and the game was scheduled quite by accident when the Cadets discovered an open date on their schedule.

Notre Dame accepted a $1,000 guarantee, sent its team to West Point and whipped the Army 25-13. It was in this game that Knute Rockne and Gus Dorais popularized the forward pass.

After that game, Notre Dame was a little-known no longer. An intense rivalry was born and it lasted for 34 games. The last was played in 1947 in South Bend. Notre Dame won the game 47-7 with Terry Brennan, now Irish head coach, whipping 96 yards for a touchdown on the opening kickoff.

Right after that game, the rivalry was broken off. It takes up again this Saturday in Philadelphia.

The game won't decide any national title, but it will be an interesting one for rumor has it that Brennan is on the spot this year. The Irish had a miserable 1956 season and they had to come through this time.

So far, they have won two games against weak opponents and are unscored upon. Their victims have been Purdue (12-0) and Indiana 26-0.

The Cadets, too, are in a peculiar position. With the demise of all the other pretenders to the Eastern throne, they find themselves undefeated and the top team in the section, having polished off Penn State 27-13 last Saturday.

Navy had full intentions of rampaging through its entire schedule. Academy officials thought this was the strongest team of Midshipmen in many a year. But North Carolina beat them 13-7.

Mighty Oklahoma, flu bug and all, goes after its 43rd straight victory, meeting Texas this week. Fifteen Sooners were stricken with the flu over the past two weeks, but they still clubbed Iowa State 40-14.

Five teams in the Big Ten remain unbeaten with two triumphs to their credit. They are Michigan State, the favorite; Michigan; Wisconsin; Minnesota; and Iowa.

Arkansas and Texas A&M are early leaders in the Southwest Conference.

Duke and North Carolina State are emerging as the big boys in the Atlantic Coast Conference, each with a 3-0 record heading toward a Nov. 23 showdown.

In the Ivy League, Princeton, which swamped Columbia 47-6, has moved into the favorite's spot over Brown, while Tennessee, the once-beaten Southeast Conference choice, didn't add to its stature with a shaky 14-9 triumph over Mississippi State.

Practically a new World Series opens today. Milwaukee's Lew Burdette and New York's Whitey Ford go after their second victory in the fifth game of the October classic.

With the series all square at two victories apiece, after Milwaukee's dramatic 10-inning, 7-5 triumph over the Yankees yesterday, the see-saw battle must return to New York no matter what happens Monday.

Barring a sudden collapse by either team, the series seems almost certain to go the full, agonizing, seven-game distance.

Since tomorrow has been set aside for travel, the issue cannot be decided until Wednesday, at the earliest.

"Those National Leaguers have proven to me what I've thought right from the beginning," Stengel said. "I warned my fellows at the start not to take them too lightly. Make no mistake about it, this Milwaukee team is tough."

In Ford, the Braves will be facing a pitcher who not only has muffed them with five hits in a 3-1 success in the opener, but a seasoned performer who has won five World Series games.

In Burdette, the Yankees will be facing a pitcher who has shackled them with only seven hits, only one longer than a single, in his 4-2 triumph over them in the second game.

Warren Spahn, ably supported by the bludgeoning bats of Henry Aaron, Frank Torre, Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews, gained the all-important Milwaukee victory yesterday. He went the 10-inning distance despite only a three-day rest and 11 Yankee base hits that included a last-ditch three-run homer by Elston Howard and a near-fatal triple by Hank Bauer.

Until the ninth, Spahn was superb. He had limited the Yankee powerhouse to only six hits and had not permitted a run after the first inning.

A double by Andy Carey and a pinch single by Jerry Lumpe put Yankee runners on first and third in the eighth but a third twin killing, started by shortstop Logan, snuffed out that threat. Logan, incidentally, established a series record with 10 assists.

The ninth was a nightmare for Spahn. After retiring the first two batters, the brilliant southpaw seemed certain of an easy 4-1 triumph but a tremendous Yankee rally tied the score at 4-4.

Yogi Berra and Gil McDougald singled and Howard, connecting with a 3-2 pitch, slammed the ball into the left field bleachers for a three-run homer.

Spahn managed to wiggle out of that inning without further damage but in the 10th, again after he retired the first two batters, Tony Kubek beat out an infield hit and scored on a triple by Bauer. All seemed lost when the Braves came to bat in their half. But Tommy Byrne, who had taken over in the eighth, his pinch hitter Nippy Jones with the first pitch. Bob Grim was summoned from the bullpen.

Red Schoendienst sacrificed pinch runner Felix Mantilla to second. Logan, after taking two balls, smashed a double into the left field corner, tying the score. Stengel preferred to pitch to the left-handed Mathews even though first base was open.

Mathews, after working the count to 2-2, smashed a fast ball over the right field fence, breaking up the game and sending the delirious crowd into hysterics. It also hung the loss on Grim.

Practically Whole New World Series Slated for Today

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Practically a new World Series opens today. Milwaukee's Lew Burdette and New York's Whitey Ford go after their second victory in the fifth game of the October classic.

With the series all square at two victories apiece, after Milwaukee's dramatic 10-inning, 7-5 triumph over the Yankees yesterday, the see-saw battle must return to New York no matter what happens Monday.

Barring a sudden collapse by either team, the series seems almost certain to go the full, agonizing, seven-game distance.

Since tomorrow has been set aside for travel, the issue cannot be decided until Wednesday, at the earliest.

"Those National Leaguers have proven to me what I've thought right from the beginning," Stengel said. "I warned my fellows at the start not to take them too lightly. Make no mistake about it, this Milwaukee team is tough."

In Ford, the Braves will be facing a pitcher who not only has muffed them with five hits in a 3-1 success in the opener, but a seasoned performer who has won five World Series games.

In Burdette, the Yankees will be facing a pitcher who has shackled them with only seven hits, only one longer than a single, in his 4-2 triumph over them in the second game.

Warren Spahn, ably supported by the bludgeoning bats of Henry Aaron, Frank Torre, Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews, gained the all-important Milwaukee victory yesterday. He went the 10-inning distance despite only a three-day rest and 11 Yankee base hits that included a last-ditch three-run homer by Elston Howard and a near-fatal triple by Hank Bauer.

Until the ninth, Spahn was superb. He had limited the Yankee powerhouse to only six hits and had not permitted a run after the first inning.

A double by Andy Carey and a pinch single by Jerry Lumpe put Yankee runners on first and third in the eighth but a third twin killing, started by shortstop Logan, snuffed out that threat. Logan, incidentally, established a series record with 10 assists.

The ninth was a nightmare for Spahn. After retiring the first two batters, the brilliant southpaw seemed certain of an easy 4-1 triumph but a tremendous Yankee rally tied the score at 4-4.

Yogi Berra and Gil McDougald singled and Howard, connecting with a 3-2 pitch, slammed the ball into the left field bleachers for a three-run homer.

Spahn managed to wiggle out of that inning without further damage but in the 10th, again after he retired the first two batters, Tony Kubek beat out an infield hit and scored on a triple by Bauer. All seemed lost when the Braves came to bat in their half. But Tommy Byrne, who had taken over in the eighth, his pinch hitter Nippy Jones with the first pitch. Bob Grim was summoned from the bullpen.

'Skull Practice' Set For WHS Lions Today

The Lion gridders of WHS are not even going to put on their uniforms Monday for the regular after-school practice.

Instead, they are going to have what is commonly referred to as a "skull practice"—a session in the field house at which the movies of last Friday's 14-0 defeat by the Tigers at Greenfield will be analyzed.

Brown Satisfied With His Grid Team

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns are the only unbeaten team in the National Football League's Eastern Division today, and Coach Paul E. Brown feels his club's "offense showed some progress against the Steelers" last Saturday night.

This is the first time in four seasons the Browns have won their first two league games instead of losing the opener and winning the next one.

The only other unbeaten NFL team, Baltimore, heads the Western Division and has the league's best scoring total—65 points for two games. The Browns defense has yielded opponents only 15, best in the league.

Los Angeles Chiefs Study Dodger Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles city council today faces a showdown on the proposed contract to move the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball club here.

The contract comes up for what is expected to be a final vote although some minority members indicated they would try to delay action for a few days in view of the fact that the National League has given Dodgers' president Walter O'Malley an extension until Oct. 15 to make up his mind about moving.

Mayor Norris Poulson says he is confident he has the 10 votes necessary to approve the contract. The council has 15 members.

Japanese 'Woman' Star Labeled 'Man'

KOBE, Japan (AP)—A Japanese woman track star was barred from the national track and field championships Saturday after doctored ruled that she was a "malformed man."

Toshiko Sanbongi, 21, has been one of Japan's top shot putters and has heaved the shot 13.11 meters (43 feet), about three meters under the world record.

The New York Giants, defending champions, evened their record Saturday night, winning their first game, 24-20, against winless Philadelphia. In other Saturday games, Cleveland overpowered Pittsburgh 23-12 and the Colts repeated a 1956 upset of Chicago Bears 21-10.

The Lions shocked the Packers at Green Bay with a wild gamble that paid off in a touchdown.

Detroit's Yale Lary stepped into punt formation in the first period. Detroit was on its 35, fourth down, 22 yards to go for a first down. Lary ran instead of kicking. Five plays later, Tobin Rote, former Packer quarterback, skirted two yards around right end and scored.

Sunday's schedule: Baltimore vs Green Bay; Chicago Cards at Pittsburgh; Los Angeles at Detroit; New York at Washington; Philadelphia at Cleveland; San Francisco at Chicago Bears.

Mixers and Marksmen Tie In Pony Football

The Splinters beat the Feeders and the Mixers tied the Marksmen before some 800 fans in the second Saturday night of Pony League football at Gardner Park here.

For the Splinters, John Harris carried over the goal twice and Sonny Shipley once to lead them to a 21-13 victory. Denny Denen did the honors on both Feeders' TDs—once on a 60-yard run. He also ran his team's lone extra point. Harris carried all three points for the Splinters.

Army, Irish Due To Tangle On Saturday

Old Rivalry Dates Back
To 1913; Oklahoma Set
For Its 43rd Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Back in 1913, Army played a little-known team from the Midwest for the first time and the game was scheduled quite by accident when the Cadets discovered an open date on their schedule.

Notre Dame accepted a $1,000 guarantee, sent its team to West Point and whipped the Army 35-13. It was in this game that Knute Rockne and Gus Dorais popularized the forward pass.

After that game, Notre Dame was a little-known no longer. An intense rivalry was born and it lasted for 34 games. The last was played in 1947 in South Bend. Notre Dame won the game 47-7 with Terry Brennan, now Irish head coach, whipping 96 yards for a touchdown on the opening kickoff.

Right after that game, the rivalry was broken off. It takes up again this Saturday in Philadelphia.

The game won't decide any national title, but it will be an interesting one for rumor has it that Brennan is on the spot this year. The Irish had a miserable 1956 season and they had to come through this time.

So far, they have won two games against weak opponents and are unscathed upon. Their victims have been Purdue (12-0) and Indiana 26-0.

The Cadets, too, are in a peculiar position. With the demise of all the other pretenders to the Eastern throne, they find themselves undefeated and the top team in the section, having polished off Penn State 27-13 last Saturday.

Navy had full intentions of rampaging through its entire schedule. Academy officials thought this was the strongest team of Midshipmen in many a year. But North Carolina beat them 13-7.

Mighty Oklahoma, flu bug and all, goes after its 43rd straight victory, meeting Texas this week. Fifteen Sooners were stricken with the flu over the past two weeks, but they still clubbed Iowa State 40-14.

Five teams in the Big Ten remain unbeaten with two triumphs to their credit. They are Michigan State, the favorite; Michigan; Wisconsin; Minnesota; and Iowa. Arkansas and Texas A&M are early leaders in the Southwest Conference.

Duke and North Carolina State are emerging as the big boys in the Atlantic Coast Conference, each with a 3-0 record heading toward a Nov. 23 showdown.

In the Ivy League, Princeton, which swamped Columbia 47-6, has moved into the favorite's spot over Brown, while Tennessee, the once-beaten Southeast Conference choice, didn't add to its stature with a shaky 14-9 triumph over Mississippi State.

Bucks Growing Boisterous; Mid-Am Leaders To Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's Bucks, a bit more boisterous after ending their three-game losing streak by trouncing Washington's Huskies 35 - 7 Saturday, open the Big Ten football season here this week against Illinois.

The Illini gave the proteges of Coach Woody Hayes no reason for over-confidence as they swamped Colgate 40-0 Saturday, refusing to allow the Red Raiders inside the 29-yard line.

Don Sutherland's 81-yard punt return for a touchdown was the deciding blow against the Huskies who had held Ohio to 7-7 at halftime. The big run came in the opening minutes of the third session, and the Bucks then made it a runaway, with five different players carrying touchdowns into the end zone.

The Mid-American loop's four co-leaders tangle this weekend. With each sporting a 1-0 record in the class conference, Marshall invades Toledo, and Miami visits Kent State. Bowling Green, which needed a 67-yard last-period pass play to eke out a 7-0 win over the U. of Delaware Saturday, opens defense of its Mid Am title by entertaining last-place Western Michigan, while Ohio University takes time off to oppose Harvard's Ivy League squad at Cambridge, Mass.

Saturday's 24-game schedule includes 13 against out-of-state foes, against whom the Ohioans were able to win only three of 10 last weekend. Despite that record, the Buckeye squads still have a mark of 16 victories against 12 losses in interstate play, with a scoring edge of 473 to 410. Last week the outside foes were on the long end of a 224 to 107 score for the 10 tilts.

Only four of the state's 35 teams were unbeaten today as a dozen suffered their first losses Saturday. Denison, 19 - 14 winner over Muskingum, and Bowling Green pace the pack with 3-0 records, with Capital and Otterbein deadlocked in the runner-up spot with 2-0-0.

Among the more amazing results last weekend were Xavier's 39-19 win over Miami; Witten-

Colts, Browns Head Divisions Of Pro League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The unbeaten Baltimore Colts and Cleveland Browns are a step ahead of a logjam of eight National Football League teams.

The Colts pace the Western Conference and the Browns the Eastern Conference with 2-0 records. The rest of the league is virtually in one big second place tie after weekend play.

Sunday's results compounded the tangle as last week's losers turned on the winners. The Detroit Lions deflated the previously unbeaten Green Bay Packers 24-14; Washington's rookies powered the Redskins to a 37-14 triumph over the Chicago Cardinals, and the San Francisco 49ers whipped the Los Angeles Rams 23-20.

The New York Giants, defending champions, evened their record Saturday night, winning their first game, 24-20, against winless Philadelphia. In other Saturday games, Cleveland overpowered Pittsburgh 23-12 and the Colts repeated a 1956 upset of Chicago Bears 21-10.

Instead, they are going to have what is commonly referred to as a "skull practice"—a session in the field house at which the movies of last Friday's 14-0 defeat by the Tigers at Greenfield will be analyzed.

Coach Fred Domenico, laid up at his home with a case of flu Monday, said "we want to find out what is wrong and what we can do to correct the mistakes that cost us that first SCO game last Friday."

This will be the first step in preparations by the Lions for their second SCO game of the season next Friday night when they are to meet the Indians from Hillsboro at Gardner Park here.

This game, incidentally, has been designated as "parents' night," the night when the parents of the Lions will be introduced to the crowd and escorted to special seats for the game.

This is considered an "important game" for the Lions if they want to keep in the SCO race, Domenico pointed out. The Indians have won two of their four games this season and one of them was from an SCO league opponent. They edged Circleville's Tigers, 7-6, last Friday to share the lead with Wilmington's Hurricane.

Domenico said a "contact workout" was not being passed up today because the Lions do not need it; rather, he explained, "we felt we had better see what's wrong and what we can do about it."

HE ADDED significantly that "there probably will be some personnel changes before Friday's game... some of the boys don't seem to exactly fit into the positions which they are playing."

Domenico said he was going to try to get to the skull practice if only for a short time. But if he can't, he said, his assistant coaches, Marvin Merritt, Jack O'Rourke and Clyde Cramer will be there and "they know what to do... we went all over it after looking at the movies Sunday."

Splinters Win From Feeders

Mixers and Marksmen
Tie In Pony Football

The Splinters beat the Feeders and the Mixers tied the Marksmen before some 800 fans in the second Saturday night of Pony League football at Gardner Park here.

For the Splinters, John Harris carried over the goal twice and Sonny Shipley once to lead them to a 21-13 victory. Denny Denen did the honors on both Feeders' TDs—once on a 60-yard run. He also ran his team's lone extra point. Harris carried all three points for the Splinters.

It was 7-7 for the Mixers and the Marksmen. Billy Marting scored for the Mixer on a fancy pitch-out and 50-yard run, with Curi getting the extra point. For the Marksmen, Steve Jennings recovered a fumble and reached paydirt. Wilson made the point after.

THE SCORING left the Splinters and the Mixers on top of the tight five-team league at the end of two weeks of play, both with 1-0-1 records.

The Big Boys, inactive Saturday night, and the Marksmen, have 0-0-1 records, while the Feeders have a record of 0-2-0.

Football will be on the docket for at least the next three Saturday nights at Gardner Park, pending the cooperation of the weather. Regular games are scheduled for Oct. 12 and 19, and a make-up of the rained out opener will be played Oct. 26.

Next week, the Mixers will draw the bye. The Splinters will tackle the Marksmen in the first game and the Feeders will take on the Big Boys in the second.

The Washington C. H. Junior High School band played between halves and between games and also in a merrily throughout the game.

Not to be outdone by their big brothers, the teams had their own cheer leaders.

The stadium on the south side of the field was a good three-fourths full of fans. There also was a liberal scattering of spectators, mostly youngsters, in the band section and back of the end zones.

Series Pinchhitters Recorded at .300

MILWAUKEE (AP)—World Series pinchhitters are batting an even .300 with three hits in 10 tries. The only ones to hit safely were Jerry Lumpe and Elston Howard of the Yankees. Lumpe has had a pair of singles.

One more pinch-blow by Lumpe will enable him to tie the record set by Bobby Brown of the Yanks in 1947 and equalled by Dusty Rhodes of the Giants in 1954.

The Yankees' Tony Kubek paces both teams in batting with a .412 mark on seven hit in 17 at bats.

Houston Wins Dixie Series Second Year

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Dixie Series followed last year's script Sunday night when Houston beat Atlanta 3-1 to win it the second season in a row.

Four-hit pitching by Tom Hughes and a 2-run homer by Ruben Amaro, the Buff shortstop, stowed away the title. It gave Houston the series, 4-2.

Michigan State-Michigan Tilt To Top Big Ten Card

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten football becomes a strictly family affair Saturday with a full-conference schedule featuring a crucial test between both unbeaten Michigan State and Michigan.

Three other Big Ten squads, including defending champion Iowa, put unblemished records at stake. Iowa confronts Indiana at Bloomington, Minnesota heads for Evanston and Northwestern's Wildcats, and Wisconsin tackles Purdue at LaFayette, Ind.

The Illinois-Ohio State annual do-do at Columbus figures as one of the top conference games and is expected to draw a capacity crowd of 82,000. It is an NCAA regional televised game.

The Spartans' invasion of Ann Arbor is tabbed as the conference feature and a crowd of more than 100,000 is anticipated.

The Spartans, ranked second nationally and undefeated in two games, warmed up for the Wolverines with a 19-0 victory over California last Saturday. California came up with unexpected strength, but the Spartans went to the air of all three touchdowns.

Michigan scored its second win by drubbing Georgia 26-0. Georgia's Bulldogs failed to get inside the Wolverines' 20-yard line.

The Illini moved in the win column by swamping a plaint Colgate contingent 40-0.

Ohio State, with one non-conference loss in the book, scored its first win by defeating Washington 35-7.

Iowa's flu-hampered Hawkeyes had to put on a last minute rally to stave off the fired up Cougars of Washington State 20-13. Taking the ball on a fumble, the Hawkeyes moved through 11 plays to carry the ball from their 46 to the goal.

In the only conference game last Saturday, Minnesota overcame a first half 10-7 Purdue lead to win 21-17.

Wisconsin, placed near the bottom of the totem pole in early conference figuring, levelled Virginia's Mountaineers 45-13, for the second victory this season.

Indiana was pummeled 26-0 by Notre Dame for its second loss, and Northwestern suffered its second loss in a clash with Oregon State, 22-13.

Among the major Midwestern independents, Notre Dame is featured in one of the nation's top games, facing Army for the first time in 10 years. Both teams are undefeated.

Marquette plays host to Holy Cross, a leading new England independent.

BY RAY BRANDENBURG

New England invasion on September 25.

With a lot of noise and confusion, we left home about 8:00 a. m., wife and myself and the three daughters, Marian, Donna and Doris.

We got a lot of free advice from the three sons-in-law and the grandchildren, as we left. Hi.

We headed east down through Circleville, Lancaster, Zanesville, Wheeling and on to the Pennsylvania turnpike.

Near St. Clairsville some guy behind us was honking his horn like crazy. I said "Why don't the simpleton go on around if he is in such a hurry?" Someone looked back and lo it was Jack and Nancy Baughn and son Danny. They were on their way to Washington C. H. and happened to see us, so we had a nice roadside visit. We came on to Keystone Motel just outside Harrisburg, Pa. After a good dinner (man, can those women eat). We Tved a-while.

I can see there is going to be plenty of confusion of a morning. I'm liable to come out with a dress on. Guess I'll put my pants under my pillow so I'll be sure to have them.

We've been plugging along the past two days on east. Passed through a lot of scenic country. The farms all through Pennsylvania are well kept and clean. Buildings painted, but the most noticeable was the absence of weeds. They just don't let them grow.

Then we came into Connecticut, Rhode Island and into Massachusetts. The nice Cape Cod type homes and well kept lawns are very attractive. We ferried across to Newport, R. I. and took a drive around the island. The enormous mansions are very impressive, but not very practical anymore, several are boarded up. We passed Ike's golf course. Had a notion to look him up and give him some advice on the Little Rock situation. Boy! Can those women eat! Fish and lobsters are having a rough time.

Weather man says it will freeze and frost tonight, so cover up your flowers, light up the furnace, put an extra blanket on the bed.

Come out to Brandenburg's and have your heater and anti-freeze checked. Better get a motor tune-up while you are at it.

Scouts Are Back From Camporee

Boy Scouts from three of the four troops in Fayette County now are back in school, but they are still thinking of the big time they had at the weekend Camporee at Rocky Fork Lake.

The Scouts from here joined Scouts from Highland County Saturday morning and from then until they left late Sunday afternoon there was not a dull moment.

Fayette County troops represented by those sponsored by the South Side Church of Christ and the American Legion here and the one at Jeffersonville.

The Milledgeville troop was too busy getting ready for Monday night's Court of Honor to take the weekend off. Scoutmaster Grant Morgan said.

Troop 112, sponsored by the Legion, came through with flying colors again, just as it did at the Camporee last spring. Richard Curl, the scoutmaster, also instructed the first aid classes. James Merritt is the explorer advisor.

Troop 112 took honors for its health and safety program and was given top rating for its organization and overall camp procedures.

A formal award, probably a plaque, in recognition of its achievements will be made to Troop 112 at a Court of Honor later, it was said.

At Saturday night's big camp fire, all the leaders were introduced and commended for the time and effort they are putting into the Scout program.

However, the highlight of the camp fire—at least for the Scouts—was the visit of 29 senior Girl Scouts from Kennedy Heights, Cincinnati, and their six leaders. Each troop put on a skit for the evening's entertainment program. Taps was sounded at 9 p. m.

Sunday started with religious services conducted by Willard Winegar of Greenfield.

In the afternoon, Mike Curl, Kent Clure and Roger Stevenson of Fayette County all won prizes in the "fishing derby."

Parents of many of the Scouts were at the Camporee for some of the activities Sunday.

Delinquency Probe Nets Girl, 2 Youths

Two Pickaway County youths were being held Monday for juvenile court hearing here, charged with keeping a 14-year-old Washington C. H. girl away from her home Saturday night and all day Sunday.

Arrested to contributing to the delinquency of a minor were Darrell William LaPointe, 19, of Route 1, Orient, and Kenneth Leroy Collins, 20, of Route 1, Mt. Sterling. The two and the girl—were arrested about 10 p. m. Sunday after a police search that started Sunday morning when the girl's parents reported she had not come home all night.

"We haven't determined exactly what went on yet, but we'll get their stories straightened out soon," Probation Officer Richard J. McMullen commented Monday.

The three were last seen together about 11 p. m. Saturday at the Roller Haven skating rink, CCC Highway west. LaPointe and the girl were brought in after police spotted LaPointe's car on Columbus Ave. Sunday night. Collins was arrested at the skating rink about the same time.

POLISH STUDENTS BATTLE POLICE

WARSAW remained tense following two nights of fighting between rioting Polish students and Communist police and militiamen around the Polytechnic school (above), the Communist party's central committee headquarters building and a student hostel. Polish Students Press Cause, But Taper Off on Rioting

WARSAW (AP) Polish students fighting which has shaken Warsaw for four straight nights.

Carbine-carrying police went into action again Sunday night against crowds at a crossroad by the Soviet-built Palace of Culture.

The demonstrators hurled stones at passing police cars but were scattered by tear gas.

The brief outburst followed three nights of similar trouble during which 150 persons were arrested, according to the government.

Most of the students stayed out of the riots of the last two nights.

Police were comparatively restrained, but witnesses said they saw at least 20 civilians beaten.

Notes of moderation were sounded by a student committee and by Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński, the Roman Catholic primate released from Communist detention a year ago when the Soviet grip on Poland was loosened.

The committee appealed to students to stay away from trouble spots and not to be identified with rioters. Student demands will be pressed by all legal methods, the committee said. Appeals have been made to Communist leaders, led by Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The students are seeking: 1—Removal of last Wednesday's ban on Po Prostu, a student publication which had become a symbol of freedom prior to which recently has been critical of his regime. 2. Assurance that students would not be punished for their original protest of the paper's banning. 3—Correction of one-sided press reports.

Arrangements for the joint committee meeting were made some time ago.

Farm Land Prices Up By 8 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prices of farm lands increased 8 per cent during the 12 months ended July 1 to continue a market boom that started with World War II.

Reporting this today the Agriculture Department said land values advanced 3 per cent between March 1 and July 1.

The July 1 average for the country as a whole was 51 per cent above the 1947-49 average.

The department said a number of factors effected the continued upturn. One was generally favorable crop prospects this year. Another was an improvement in farm product prices. A third was a continuing pressure to enlarge existing farms.

The department said that in some areas, the government's soil bank land retirement program was an influence, particularly on values of below-average quality land. Such land can be retired under subsidy payments for as long as 10 years.

The department estimated the value of farm real estate at $112.4 billion on July 1 compared with $104 billion a year earlier.

The market supply of land has continued at a low level, the department said. The largest increases in value in the last year generally were in the eastern two-thirds of the country.

POLISH STUDENTS BATTLE POLICE

About 3,000 students demonstrated against closing down of their weekly newspaper.

Polish Students Press Cause, But Taper Off on Rioting

WARSAW (AP) Polish students fighting which has shaken Warsaw for four straight nights.

Carbine-carrying police went in to action again Sunday night against crowds at a crossroad by the Soviet-built Palace of Culture.

The demonstrators hurled stones at passing police cars but were scattered by tear gas.

The brief outburst followed three nights of similar trouble during which 150 persons were arrested, according to the government.

Most of the students stayed out of the riots of the last two nights. Police were comparatively restrained, but witnesses said they saw at least 20 civilians beaten.

Notes of moderation were sounded by a student committee and by Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, the Roman Catholic primate released from Communist detention a year ago when the Soviet grip on Poland was loosened.

The committee appealed to students to stay away from trouble spots and not to be identified with rioters.

Student demands will be pressed by all legal methods, the committee said. Appeals have been made to Communist leaders, led by Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The students are seeking: 1—Removal of last Wednesday's ban on Po Prostu, a student publication which had become a symbol of freedom prior to Gomulka's return to power but which recently has been critical of his regime.

2—Assurance that students would not be punished for their original protest of the paper's banning.

3—Correction of one-sided press reports.

Farm Land Prices Up By 8 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prices of farm lands increased 8 per cent during the 12 months ended July 1 to continue a market boom that started with World War II.

Reporting this today the Agriculture Department said land values advanced 3 per cent between March 1 and July 1.

The July 1 average for the country as a whole was 51 per cent above the 1947-49 average.

The department said a number of factors effected the continued upturn. One was generally favorable crop prospects this year. Another was an improvement in farm product prices. A third was a continuing pressure to enlarge existing farms.

The department said that in some areas, the government's soil bank land retirement program was an influence, particularly on values of below-average quality land. Such land can be retired under subsidy payments for as long as 10 years.

The department estimated the value of farm real estate at $112.4 billion on July 1 compared with $104 billion a year earlier.

The market supply of land has continued at a low level, the department said. The largest increases in value in the last year generally were in the eastern two-thirds of the country.
